Ulbricht and Dubcek Meet In Chilly Atmosphere

KARLOVY VARY, Czechoslovakia (AP) — East German Communist Chief Walter Ulbricht wound up a one-day conference with Czechoslovak reformist leaders Monday with little to show except a broadly worded agreement on increased economic cooperation. Czechoslovak crowds treated him icily.

The conference apparently left the two Communist leaderships as wide apart as ever on how liberal a Communist party should be. Ulbricht has been a bitter foe of the reformist trend.

Arriving by air in this west Bohemian spa, the East German Communist chief was met by Alexander Dubcek, the Czechoslovak party leader who less than two weeks ago was a target of East Germany's propaganda barrages.

About 1,000 persons at the airport shouted, "Dubcek, Dubcek," without a single mention of Ulbricht. Only one East German flag flew at the airport.

"I am happy about the friendly invitation," Ulbricht told the Czechoslovakians on arrival. "I don't have to introduce the delegation. You know them from Bratislava." — site of recent conciliatory talks among East European Communist nations, East German propaganda against Czechoslovakia has been muted since the meeting at Bratislava Aug. 3.

A communique issued at the end of Monday's talks said both sides "agreed on measures for the deepening of mutual economic relations and the coordination of long term plans." It said the talks were friendly and frank and that both countries would continue to oppose "activation of revanchism and militarism and neo-Nazism in West Germany."

The official Czechoslovak news agency CTK said the East Germans would go home Tuesday.

Informed sources said the meeting took place at Ulbricht's initiative. Ulbricht was believed to have been one of the main initiators of the campaign against the Czechoslovak reform movement.

Ulbricht had been jeered by Czechoslovakians when he arrived at the Bratislava meeting.

Czechoslovakia emerged from Bratislava with its program of free speech and free press unimpaired and with a joint declaration calling for modernization of Comecon — the Communist version of Western Europe's Common Market.

This was welcomed by Czechoslovakia and East Germany alike. The most industrialized in eastern Europe, they have big trade surpluses with the Soviet Union. Both want to make the Russian ruble convertible so that they do not have to barter with the Soviet Union.

The Communist party newspaper Rude Pravo said the Czechoslovak leaders needed to talk with the East Germans on such topics as "mutual relations and on the problems concerning the whole of Germany, both German states."

Tidioute Council May Lease Old PRR Depot

TIDIOUTE — A move was made at the Monday council meeting to lease the old PRR depot building lot. The plan is to have the building removed, the land filled in and to pay a $10 per month lease rental; to use the space for free parking. Notification of this possibility was revealed in a letter from borough solicitor Blackman & Blackman, who was notified by the Penn-Central it was willing to release the station property to the Tidioute borough on the above terms.

The Warren County Zoning Commission has prepared a zoning map of Tidioute Borough which was presented and explained in detail by William Karns, secretary. The residential area is shown in yellow; residential area II, orange; commercial, red; industrial, purple; agricultural, brown; and conservation and recreation, green. Karns was instructed to write the commission, asking for a representative to appear at the next council meeting, to explain restrictions for changes in detail. Also to ask for a delay beyond the Aug. 15 deadline for accepting the map due to the absence of two members and the recent death of one.

W.E. Rice Named By State Group
William E. Rice, of Warren County, has been elected second vice-president of the Pennsylvania Association of Registrars of Wills and Clerks of Orphans Court. He was also re-elected to the executive committee of the association, at the convention held in York.

John M. Neely, of Beaver County, was named president; John V. Shroyer, of Fayette County, first vice president, and Clair Halstead, of Butler County, third vice president. Harry Burd, of Centre, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Parking Ordinance Is Defeated In Council, 8-7

Warren borough council, after nearly three hours of discussion relative to no parking areas on the south side of Pennsylvania avenue east, defeated both an ordinance and an amendment to that ordinance by a narrow 8 to 7 margin.

Nay votes were cast by the following councilmen: James Torrance, Rockwell O'Sheill, Samuel Gorrida, Richard Meacham, Ralph Barney, David Winans, Tony Tomassoni and H. Kent Petersen. Voting for both the ordinance and the amendment were Dr. K. E. McDonald, Karl Timm, Walter Austin, Beyer Africa, Marvin Billow, J. L. Donaldson and Raymond Marti.

Absent at Monday's session were Edwin E. Sullivan, Dr. L. W. Krespan and W. D. McElwain.

Concerned citizens turned out for the meeting, filling council chambers and spilling out into two ante rooms and the corridor. Many were outspoken in their objections to the Pennsylvania avenue e. parking restrictions as were several councilmen.

Timm, chairman of the public safety committee, unveiled a second mapped proposal for the east portion of Pennsylvania avenue, which differed in some areas from a similar map revealed at the July council session. He explained that Louis Kisselhoff, assistant traffic engineer of highways, had pointed out a number of imperfections in the first design, which had been corrected.

The defeated amendment could have put some parking back on the avenue — six places in groups of two with a 15 minute parking limit. Also eyed was moving left turns into a lane by themselves so east-bound through traffic could take a straight line. Consideration had been given as well to two "no left turns" at Cedar and Linwood streets and eliminated traffic from turning east from Franklin street.

Following defeat of the amendment and anticipating a similar fate for the ordinance, Timm stated his committee had taken into consideration safety and traffic flow and minimum effect on the economy. He predicted that council's action would take the borough back to the "horse and buggy days" and that voting down the legislation would create real problems for Warren.

Kisselhoff advised the highways department was extreme. See COUNCIL, Page 2

Gunbattles in Watts Leave 3 Dead, 44 Injured

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Caravans of shotgun-carrying officers maintained order in Watts Monday night after gun battles over several hours left 3 Negro men dead and 44 others — including six policemen — injured or wounded.

Police described their Watts contingent as a "saturation force" equal to that used in the 1965 riot that cost 34 lives and $40 million in property damage. "We are totally mobilized," Police Chief Tom Reddin told a news conference.

He would not say how many men he had in the Watts area, where most of the city's 335,000 Negroes live, but said that citywide there were 2,000 officers on duty.

He said the California National Guard had been asked to stay on alert.

Of the three men killed, Reddin said, two definitely were not shot by police.

One was killed by bird shot, he said, "which we do not use in our weapons." And he said he had witnesses that another was shot by one of four men who drove past in a car.

Air Force Bombers Rain Tons of Explosives on VC

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Air Force B52 bombers flew to less than two miles of the Cambodian border late Monday to rain hundreds of tons of explosives on enemy positions stretching from northwest of Saigon into the central highlands.

Three waves of the Stratofortresses, with at least three bombers in each wave, attacked Communist troop concentrations, training camps and storage areas 24 to 27 miles northwest of Tay Ninh City along the Cambodian border. The strikes were 74 to 77 miles northwest of Saigon.

U.S. sources said some of the strikes were only 1.8 miles from the Cambodian border.

Two other flights of the B52s ranged more than 200 miles farther north, still along the Cambodian border, to attack troop concentrations, infiltration routes and storage sites. These strikes also were only 1.9 miles from the Cambodian border.

In four other missions late Monday and early Tuesday, the Stratofortresses hit at enemy troop concentrations, base camps and storage areas in Binh Long and Binh Duong provinces north of Saigon.

In all of the seven missions, each bomber carried thirty tons of explosives. Each mission was made up of at least three B52s.

Elsewhere, U.S. infantrymen from the 9th Division reported they killed 47 Viet Cong troops Monday in two separate clashes in the Mekong Delta ranging from 15 to 24 miles south of Saigon. Eight U.S. infantrymen were wounded.

KDVB Representatives Attend Travel Seminar

The first annual seminar on Developing Travel Investment Opportunities will be attended by two delegates of the Kinzua Dam Vacation Bureau, according to Leroy Schneek, bureau president.

Representing Warren and Forest counties this week at the seminar at Cape Canaveral, Florida are Henry LeMeur, vice president and Charles Tranter, executive director of the vacation bureau.

The seminar has been planned by Conway Research, Inc. of Atlanta which has arranged for participation by the top-level executives in the travel industry.

The purpose of the seminar is to provide a forum for the exchange of information between those who are seeking increased tourist travel for their areas and those companies or individuals looking for places to invest in facilities that will attract the tourist.

Among the many experts taking part in the seminar are Lloyd Farwell, vice president, Hilton Hotels Corporation; C. N. Winsby, vice president, North American Rockwell Corp.; and T.E.S. Crooke, director of marketing, Hotel Corporation of America.

Industry and commerce department officials from the states of Florida, Illinois, Kansas, North Carolina, Michigan, Ohio, Rhode Island, Washington and Pennsylvania are among the travel specialists taking part.

Everything's Ready For Warren Bike Rodeo

The Warren Bike Rodeo "500" stressing bicycle safety, balance, skill, judgment and general good handling ability gets underway Wednesday at 1 p.m. at Beatty Junior High School parking lot.

Any boy or girl in Warren County between the ages of six and 17 who own or can borrow a bicycle with a current license can compete for part of the $220 in cash prizes.

Competitors for this second annual bike rodeo co-sponsored by the Warren County School District's recreation department and the Warren Times-Mirror & Observer will be divided into four age groups. Cash prizes will be awarded the first four place finishers in each of the age groups: Peanut, 6-8; Midget, 9-11; Junior, 12-14; and Senior, 15-17.

Bicycle inspection by the Warren Borough Police Dept., for all entrants who have not had their bicycles inspected this year, will begin at 11 a.m. There is a 25 cent fee for inspection.

Children entering the contest will also be allowed to run the course from 11 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. Immediately following the registration contestants will receive a number to be pinned on their shirts or blouses for identification purposes while running the course.

Rules and regulations governing the bike rodeo are posted at all playgrounds along with the layout of the course. Winners will be selected on the basis of the highest number of points obtained out of the possible 500.

Eternal Youth?

LONDON (AP) — Fred Eigheten, who's been Eighteen for 41 years, says there's no advantage to his eternally youthful name. It gets mistaken for a street address and letters go astray; callers to his home think they have a wrong number and hang up; and "Every time people ask my name and I tell them, they always say, 'No, your name, not your age'."

Mishap Causes No Injuries

A two-car mishap on Route 62, six miles south of Tidioute, Sunday afternoon resulted in moderate damage to the vehicles involved.

There were no injuries, according to state police of the Tionesta substation, when a car driven by Edward S. Grejda, 32, of Clarendon collided with a car operated by Stella H. Wilson, 62, of RD 2, Russell.

Both vehicles were traveling south on Route 62. Police said another vehicle made a sudden stop in front of the Wilson car and Grejda was unable to stop before slamming into its rear.

Mrs. Krupey Attends Annual Jewelry Show

Mrs. Gladys Krupey, manager of the local Darling Jewelry Co. store, has just returned from the annual retail jewelry show held at the Hilton Hotel in New York City.

This is said to be the foremost jewelry trade show in the world, since not only American but British and European jewelers from all countries display their wares.

Mrs. Krupey returned with tremendous enthusiasm about the new fall merchandise, which she says will be the finest Darling's ever had. She selected not only jewelry but items in sterling silver and fine china plus gift items which will be arranged for the coming holiday season.

Paving to Start

The State Highway Department in Franklin said Monday that paving is scheduled to start on the Youngsville Route 6 bypass next week.

According to a spokesman, the contractors, S. J. Grove & Sons hope to get the job under way next week but the exact time could not be determined due to many possible contingencies.

ly concerned about the local traffic flow, which he said, was in the same basic condition as in 1961 when a traffic survey was taken. He stated there was only one basic solution — no parking, adding that streets were built to drive on not to park on.

The traffic engineer reminded the borough had constructed no new streets in the last 50 years. He asked how long it had been since merchants had attempted to provide off-street parking, cited the short distance between streets and the impossibility for left turns in both directions.

Kisselhoff reaffirmed the state will provide lanes and paint if traffic plans meet state requirements. Also mentioned was the possibility of a one-way parallel reciprocal street such as Madison avenue to improve traffic flow and restore traffic along with installation of a two or three-dial light system which would regulate to accommodate both peak and normal traffic.

Visitors at the session were vocal in their objections to the no parking measure with patrolmen on duty to remove those who spoke without making their identity known to the chair. For the most part spokesmen were orderly in their presentations.

Attorney S. W. Blackman, representing the Pennsylvania Avenue Association, recently formed to block the no parking measure and advocating that a complete traffic plan be submitted, noted that a petition submitted to council last month had not been answered. He and other citizens questioned why various groups had not been provided an opportunity to meet with the public safety committee to talk over recommendations.

Timm stated his committee was responsible only to council and that no other groups had requested the safety committee to be heard at their meetings.

O'Sheill called for "sweeping legislation" in regard to traffic flow-as outlined in the borough master plan after many stormy hearings, rather than piecemeal ordinances. He recommended an in depth study of the situation by the public safety committee, planning commission, citizens advisory committee, chamber of commerce and the Pennsylvania Avenue Association.

While commending Timm and his committee for the job they have done, he termed passage of the amendment or the ordinance an imposition upon council, noting none had the opportunity to study either the new map or the proposed amendment. O'Sheill said public views should be heard.

John Biekarck, speaking at the request of the Pennsylvania Avenue Association, stressed the nature of the ordinance, reminding that another piece of legislation was brought up a year ago in much the same manner. Groups, he said, met and gave recommendations. All were concerned with flow of traffic but agreed that removal of parking would have little effect. He stated a study was made and it was decided not to remove parking.

Biekarck, advised that merchants are going to be hurt — "more badly in the future." In imploring council not to pass the ordinance Monday night, the spokesman stated that by taking a chart (such as adorned chamber's wall) and an impersonal view, councilmen would be dealing with human beings and hurting people.

Gerry Archibald, chairman of the citizens advisory committee, read a letter forwarded by that body to borough manager Victor L. Miller, in which the organization reminded it had approved a resolution calling for professional assistance being engaged.

The committee, in answer to a request for specific constructive criticisms to relieve present traffic congestion, opined they were not qualified to present such a plan nor was the public safety committee without aid of an unbiased professional opinion. This committee also advocated no further restrictions until other parking provisions were made in the given areas. Stopped up traffic lights and stationing traffic police at key intersections during peak hours was another suggestion.

John Lutz, president, Warren County Chamber of Commerce, reiterated that body's stand against the ordinance and again recommended a second look be taken at alternate means of eliminating traffic congestion.

Timm stated that it is expected that by 1980, 38,000 vehicles will go through the corner of Conewago avenue and Pennsylvania avenue. He further said the proposed Lexington avenue bypass will do little to ease the situation on the borough's main artery.

Others who verbally opposed the measure were Joseph Krimmel, former businessman, who stated Pennsylvania avenue could well become a "ghetto street—traffic flowing but no business."

John Rix, who suggested 15 minute parking was not sufficient for those wanting to patronize a grocery store or restaurant but who felt motorists themselves could do much to alleviate the traffic flow problem; Everett Siefert, who noted the public safety committee had not tried any of the recommendations presented by other interested parties; Joseph Guffire, V & J Pizza Shop, who purchased and renovated a building on the avenue, which he said he probably wouldn't even attempt to do today under the present circumstances.

Joseph DeMott Jr., a 10-year east side resident, who said removing parking would not relieve downtown traffic traveling west from Elm street; Bob Guffire, Guffire's Market, stated he was trying to improve both his parking lot and store but opposed the no parking; Rex Biekarck, asking if any pressure had been put on trucking to leave Warren at other than peak times or industry to stagger release of shifts.

The senior Biekarck also cited loss of income, out of town plazas and a sharp decrease in the appearance of businesses in the borough. Bill Proukou envisioned a "slum area" for future generations.

As for council opposition, Tomassoni battled right down to the finish line for those who might be affected by the controversial measures.

Only one citizen expressed concern in another area. He was William Prendergast, of 203 Lexington avenue, who wanted some action taken to halt vandalism at War Memorial Field which is costing the taxpayers money.

While council considered other matters, the parking problem took the greatest share of the time. An ordinance listed on the agenda in regard to no left turns on Pennsylvania ave., was omitted on request of Timm.

Verdict Is 'Not Guilty' For Grand Valley Man

A jury of eight women and four men on Monday brought in a not guilty verdict for a 22-year-old Grand Valley area man, charged with two counts of cheating by fraudulent pretense.

The charges stemmed from two incidents, which according to testimony, occurred early in the afternoon of July 10 of this year at two service stations.

The defendant, Archie Rosenberg Jr., RD 1, Grand Valley, stopped at Service Oil Company in Starbuck, purchased a dollar's worth of gas and drove away. Returning a few minutes later, Howard Clifton, service station manager, said the defendant claimed the gas cap on his truck had not been replaced after he bought the gas. Rosenberg accepted 75 cents from Clifton after several other gas caps, including a new one offered, allegedly didn't fit.

Clifton testified he was certain he had replaced the cap but was busy and didn't want to argue with the defendant. An off-duty state police trooper at Service Oil when Rosenberg paid the two visits, with Clifton, stated they suspected the defendant might be attempting the same ruse at other stations.

Further testimony revealed Rosenberg had stopped at the Skat Station in west Youngsville.

Accident Victim Is Recovering

Since Jack Schumann was admitted to Erie's Hamot Hospital on June 20, he has been receiving so many letters and cards from friends and well-wishers that he would like to pass along his thanks.

Schumann also wants to thank the Glade Keystone gas station and Malone's Keystone station in the West Side for setting up the fund that is providing him with a television set during his recuperation period. Through the efforts of his fellow workers Schumann has been able to occupy many of the long hours by watching TV.

He was injured when a car struck the motorcycle on which he was riding June 20, Schumann, who lives at 394 Miller Hill rd., expects to be in the hospital for his birthday on August 19 and for an additional three or four weeks.

JAMESTOWN, N.Y. — City Council's Highway Committee met Monday night to discuss a possible federal grant for a major sewer project within the city. During the meeting it was noted, before the grant can be approved a sewer study will

Three Arrested For Beating Of Man

Three Warren men were arrested Monday, by Warren Borough police, in connection with the beating of a man early Sunday morning in the Market Street Plaza.

In Warren County Jail on charges of aggravated assault are, Charles Grier, Robert Crowl and John Crowl, all of Cotham Park rd. According to borough police the trio allegedly attacked and beat Charles Crooks, Lewis Run, Pa. after the victim had reportedly become involved in a dispute with the wife of one of the accused.

Crooks, who was admitted to Warren General Hospital with what police described as a possible fractured jaw, two black eyes and possible back injuries, told police he was attacked by the men while parked at the Market Street Plaza about 1:30 a.m. Sunday with a female companion.

According to a statement given police by Crooks he was pulled from his car onto the parking lot pavement where he was beaten by the three accused and two other men who are as yet unidentified.

The two Crowl brothers and Grier are being held on $500 bail or $1,000 property bond, according to police. Investigation is continuing.

Crooks remained in satisfactory condition at Warren General Hospital, according to a hospital spokesman, Monday night.

Nixon Plans To Spend $5 Million

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Republican presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon, refreshed from 14 hours of sleep, began mapping plans Monday to spend $5 million and enlist 5 million workers to win votes from Democrats and independents.

Nixon, accompanied by his running mate, Gov. Spiro Agnew of Maryland, took time out from strategy talks and walked along blue Mission Bay, posing for photographers.

Nixon, looking relaxed, told how he slept only 12 hours in the three days following his nomination Thursday.

"Last night (Sunday) I went to bed at 5 p.m. and slept for 14 hours and slept like a kid," Nixon told Agnew.

The former vice president's plan for an intensive effort to win Democrats and independents—a majority of the voters—was announced by Charles S. Rhyme, national chairman of United Citizens for Nixon-Agnew.

Rhyme said one million campaigners already have signed up.

Tom Evans, national director of the citizens' group, said it plans to go into Negro areas and set up extensive precinct organizations.

Rhyme said "there are large numbers" of Negroes in Nixon's campaign organization. In response to a question, he said, "What is a large I can't exactly tell you."

$128,500 Contract

HARRISBURG (AP)—The General State Authority announced Monday that Casanave Tree Service Co. of Meadville was awarded a $128,500 contract to clear the reservoir area of Yellow Creek State Park in Indiana County.

have to be made and problems involving surface waters must be corrected. The same study was discussed by the committee more than two weeks ago. At that time it was announced the cost of the study, by the engineering firm Neusbaumer and Clark, Buffalo, N.Y. was $200,000 but at last night's meeting the figure was changed to $300,000.

Committee Chairman, Warren G. Erickson, said, some of the work on the survey was originally scheduled to be done by DPW personnel, but will now be done by the Buffalo firm. It was explained the DPW lacks both personnel and equipment for the work.

The committee also decided to again ask the city council to reconsider a proposal which would permit Curo Construction Co. to handle rubbish at the city dump on Eighteenth st. Curo Construction Co. also has the city garbage contract. City council last month rejected the same proposal, but committee members agree with DPW director, Joseph Veale, having the work done by department personnel amounts to duplication of services.

In other city hall business, the planning commission meets this afternoon and may take some action on the proposals regarding the former Hotel Jamestown. One proposal has been advanced to remodel the former hotel into a low income senior citizens housing project. A second proposal, by 42 downtown business and professional men, would remodel the hotel into a modern motor inn.

Westfield Seeks Action On Teenagers

WESTFIELD, N.Y. — Residents of Westfield are asking village officials to do something about the number of youths from Pennsylvania who come to Westfield over weekends and create problems.

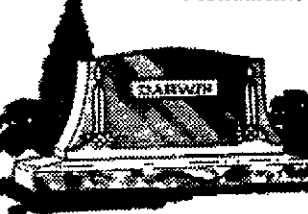

Board officials said they are appointing a citizens' committee to study the situation and see what can be done. Some persons have advocated voting the town of Westfield "dry," but this move would require special permission from the state legislature.

As many as 800 youths from Pennsylvania, most of them from Erie County, Pa., converge on this small Chautauqua County village each week-end, mostly because of the difference in drinking ages between the two states. In New York state, a person need only be 18 to be served alcoholic beverages, while in Pennsylvania, the age is 21.

4-H'ers Get County Fair Off to Flying Start

4-H JUDGES

Judging for the many exhibits at the annual Warren County Fair, which begins today and runs through Saturday at the fairgrounds just west of Pittsfield, gets underway at 10 a.m. Wednesday. Heading up the 4-H judging staff are left to right, Shirley Van Proolen, Georgia

Ludwick, Ruth Ann Wilson and Ann Bonnar. Ruth Ann Wilson is the new 4-H Home Economist replacing Sharon Corey. Mrs. Corey will serve as a judge for this year's clothing exhibits. (Photos by Mansfield)

HELP WITH EXHIBITS

4-H's from all over the county were at the Warren County fairgrounds Monday making final preparation for the 38th annual event. Among the enthusiastic workers helping to assemble 4-H booths and exhibits were left to

EARLY BIRDS

Although exhibits will be accepted until 8 p.m. today many area 4-H's got their exhibits for the county fair early to assure everything was in readiness when the judging begins. This group of 4-H's, all from the Russell area, displaying the projects they will exhibit are, left to right, Phillip Dyke, Sonya Dyke, Jeff Head, Richie Dyke, Randy Rickerson, Georgy Head and Lona Dyke. Mrs. Richard Dyke, seated left, is supervisor for the group. (Photo by Mansfield)

4-H'ers, from 7 to 17, got the Youngsville - Warren County Fair off to a flying start Monday, a day before the Fair officially opened, with their own 4-H Round-up in agriculture and home economics. 4-H clubs, with their exotic names, such as the Tidoute Go-Go-Gophers and the Southwest Tree Choppers, converged on the Warren County Fairgrounds outside of Pittsfield from all parts of the county.

In the Agriculture division, the judges evaluated projects in seven categories: entomology (Needle and Hare, and Cobham Park 4-H Clubs), rope tying (Needle and Hare), forestry (Southwest Tree Choppers), wildlife (Stateline), Flowers (Tidoute Till and Toll, and Cobham Park), geology (Swede Hollow), and vegetables (Tidoute Till and Toll). Judges B. L. Wingert, Harry Schmidt, Robert Ache and Ralph Eckert awarded a total of 26 blue ribbons, 10 red ribbons and four white ribbons in the Agricultural Division.

McGovern Says He's Winning Delegate Support in Campaign

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., brought his fledgling campaign for president to New York Monday and said he hoped to line up at least 200 to 250 votes on the first ballot at the Democratic convention opening Aug. 26 in Chicago.

McGovern, who declared his candidacy Saturday, told an airport news conference he knew he had delegate support in California, New York and Michigan.

He said he also believed he would get votes in Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Utah, Washington, the District of Columbia, South Dakota and North Carolina.

"If we can get 200 to 250 delegates on the first go-around, I will consider that significant," he said.

McGovern said he was entering the race against Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy because he felt, like McCarthy, that the war in Vietnam must be ended. But he also saw the need for a new urgency in solving domestic issues.

McGovern said he would actively support either Humphrey or McCarthy as the Democratic nominee in preference to Republican Richard M. Nixon.

"I am not out to stop Humphrey or to stop McCarthy," he said.

McGovern said he had been satisfied with the candidacy of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and after Kennedy's assassination had waited to see if his brother Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., would enter the race. When that did not happen, McGovern said, he decided to enter the race himself.

Perhaps the most important of the Agricultural project, the dairy and horse projects, will be judged later in the week. Dairy projects must be entered by Wednesday and will be judged on Thursday; Horse projects must be entered Saturday morning and will be judged Saturday afternoon.

In the Home Economics Division, 31 projects were entered for evaluation by judges Mrs. Shirley Van Proolen, Mrs. Georgia Ludwick, Mrs. Ann Bonnar, and Mrs. Mike Kuzma. Most projects displayed cooking skills, whether indoor baking (Scranton Hollow Honey Bees, Needle and Hare, and Cobham Combination) or outdoor campfire cooking (Russell Bar-B-Queers, and Tidoute Water Dogs).

The awards will be made at an assembly today at 2 p.m. at which Debbie Bonnar, Garland Queen of 1967, will serve as Mistress of Ceremonies. John Zeigler, Annette Lauffenburger, Marcia Wilcox and Luann Greenwood will aid in directing the assembly.

The Home Economics Division will be capped today with an exhibition of clothing made by 4-H girls. The day will reach a high point this morning at 11 when the dresses will be judged, and again this afternoon at 2 when each seamstress will model her dress in a fashion show.

Killer Pleads with Police To 'Catch Me Please'

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — The semi-nude body of a young girl and a critically wounded woman were found Monday after a man called police and said, "I've just murdered three people... Catch me please."

The girl, clad in the bottom half of a two-piece bathing suit and a blouse, was found in Hollywood, Fla. She had been shot twice in the head.

Four miles away, the woman was found in a car at the Fort Lauderdale-Hollywood International Airport. She had been shot five times in the head and neck. She was reported in critical condition at a hospital.

The woman was tentatively identified as Dorothy Ammons Clark, 42, of Atlanta, Ga. A placard

Agnew Says Spending Must Be Selective

LONDON (AP) — Gov. Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland said in an interview screened in England Monday night that federal spending in America's cities must be selective. He stood firmly in favor of giving police the right to shoot at fleeing looters.

The Republican nominee for vice president was asked by the British Broadcasting Corp. whether he felt the United States was turning toward a conservative mood. He replied: "If by conservatism you mean a feeling that the public, meaning the Negro as well as the white public, must be protected from lawlessness, I would say a very definite one."

BBC reporter Robert MacNeil obtained the interview with Agnew last week at a Miami Beach hotel just after Agnew's nomination.

The interview covered the major topics of Vietnam, Agnew's fitness to succeed as president and the circumstances surrounding his nomination and his views on racial and urban problems.

On Vietnam, Agnew said he does not want to see the United States withdraw from Vietnam unilaterally. "I guess you might call me very guarded about the sincerity of the Communist countries," MacNeil, referring to presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon's remarks that his running mate must be capable of succeeding him, asked Agnew if he felt he was qualified to be president.

"I do," Agnew replied.

MacNeil then remarked that it was being said in Miami that Agnew had been picked for the second spot on the ticket because he was least offensive to Republicans in the South. Agnew replied: "I think I was chosen because I was least offensive to all Republicans. I don't think that the Southern Republicans should be singled out for that particular credit."

Speaking of his record on civil rights in Maryland, Agnew said he was the first governor of his state to have Negroes on his staff, that he had consistently favored open housing, and that as a county executive he had passed the first equal accommodation law south of the Mason-Dixon Line.

Baltimore Negroes Oppose Spiro Agnew

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — A group of Baltimore Negro leaders said Monday they have organized to oppose Spiro T. Agnew, the Republican vice presidential nominee, by spreading his record of "inadequacies" throughout the nation.

The newly formed Ad Hoc Committee for Good Government said it could not support Agnew, the Maryland governor, nor Richard M. Nixon, the GOP presidential nominee.

A statement issued by the committee said although individual concern had been directed at Agnew's "antipathy toward black people, the record is patently clear that neither he nor (Nixon) are at all in consonance to progressive social programs."

The statement was issued by 18 political, civic, religious and civil rights leaders prior to a closed meeting. The group said it spoke for many of the approximately 70 Negro leaders who walked out of a meeting with Agnew after he chastised them following April rioting in Baltimore.

ture resembling the girl and the top of the teen-ager's bathing suit were found in the woman's bloodstained car.

The victims were discovered an hour after the telephoner told police he had left one body at the airport, another on a road, and a third "in the water."

A search of area canals and waterways failed to turn up another body by late evening.

Although a suspect was arrested at the airport as he stood at a counter waiting to purchase a ticket to the Bahamas, Fort Lauderdale police later issued a public warning that the telephoner "may attempt to take more lives."

Police officials said in the statement the warning was issued "after playing tapes of the conversation of the suspect when he reported the crimes."

Transcripts of the conversation between the caller and Officer James Rice included:

Caller: "I just killed three people."

Rice: "You just killed three people?"

Caller: "Right."

Rice: "Are you serious?"

Caller: "I'm serious. Please catch me. Please."

Rice: "Where are you son?"

Caller: "I'm gonna kill'em tomorrow too. Please."

Rice: "Where are you?" Disconnect.

In a second call, the man gave sketchy directions as to the locations of the bodies and said he would wait for police at a service station on U.S. 1. He was gone when officers arrived.

Officials said they felt the warning was necessary and added, however, "We do not wish to alarm the public."

The tentative identification was released after license plates on the wounded woman's car were traced to Mrs. Dorothy A. Clark of Atlanta.

An Emory University sticker was on the window and a check with authorities there showed Mrs. Clark was employed by the school as a trainee at the psychological center.

"We're not 100 per cent sure it's Mrs. Clark and her daughter," detectives said. "But we think so."

The girl was blonde, about 5-foot-3, 125 pounds and was about 13.

POLITICS AT A GLANCE

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Possibility—Gov. Lester Maddox of Georgia announced Monday he is considering running for the Democratic presidential nomination and would reach a decision by Saturday.

Newcomer—Sen. George S. McGovern, of South Dakota—who announced for the Democratic presidential nomination Saturday—campaigning in New York, said he hopes to get 200 to 300 votes on the first ballot at the Democratic convention in Chicago.

Strategists—Republican presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon and his running mate, Gov. Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland, held campaign strategy talks at Mission Bay, Calif.

The other Democrats—Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy in Los Angeles, urged his supporters to stay away from the Chicago convention in the interest of a peaceful and orderly convention. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, in Washington, called for equality of opportunity for veterans returning to civilian life.

Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., proposed that the Democratic platform call for cessation of bombing of North Vietnam and for South Vietnamese elections open to all citizens, including the National Liberation Front.

Pollution: Form No. 4

It had to come. After the Four Freedoms and the Four Horsemen of Notre Dame, there just had to be a fourth form of pollution.

Now we have it. In addition to air, water and land pollution there is a growing awareness sweeping across the nation that an even more insidious form of pollution exists and steps must be taken to control it with as much or more forcefulness than we are presently employing in controlling the others.

The fourth pollution is --- visual pollution.

It is a form of pollution that is evidenced in many ways. It insults the eye in the rundown sections of our cities, in the construction disorder of our industrial complexes, in the viewing of the junkyards and billboards along our

DREW PEARSON

Nixon Aim Was to Axe Wallace

WASHINGTON—What Richard Nixon was doing during the last hectic hours at the Republican convention in Miami Beach was developing Sen. Strom Thurmond, the South Carolina renegade Democrat, as his agent to combat another renegade Democrat, George Wallace of Alabama.

This is why he gave Thurmond the veto on who would run as Vice President, and why he picked Gov. Spiro Agnew of Maryland, almost unknown to most Republicans, for the No. 2 place on the ticket.

It was a calculated risk. Nixon knew he would antagonize many Northern Republicans, though he was not prepared for as much smoldering resentment as that which immediately swept over Northern delegations.

But he figured that with Strom Thurmond, together with Sen. John Tower of Texas, another Southern Republican, he could combat his biggest threat below the Mason-Dixon Line—Wallace.

Actually, Sen. Thurmond did a great job for Nixon behind the scenes in Miami Beach. No sooner had Southern delegates arrived than a revolt developed in favor of Ronald Reagan. Both Rockefeller and Reagan were counting on this to pull enough votes away from Nixon to stop him on the first ballot. In that case they figured on more defections on the second and third ballots, and an eventual Nixon defeat.

But they didn't figure on Strom Thurmond. Though Strom started out as a strong Reagan man, a talk with Nixon converted him into Nixon's and he became Nixon's agent with Southern delegates. To that end he took the rebellious Mississippi delegates on a cruise Monday afternoon on a private yacht loaned to Nixon.

He also helped arrange the secret Nixon conference with Southern delegates at which Nixon threw cold water on school bussing, promised to appoint Supreme Court justices who could stick with the Constitution, not make laws on their own.

In return, Nixon agreed to veto four vice-presidential candidates who were anathema to the South: Sen. Ed Brooke, the Negro from Massachusetts; John Lindsay, mayor of New York; Sen. Mark Hatfield of Oregon; and Charles Percy of Illinois.

Actually, Thurmond was not too happy about Nixon's final choice of Agnew, but agreed that Agnew would not antagonize the South. Agnew had been elected governor of Maryland as a defender of open housing. However, he took a strong stand against the Negro sit-in at Bowie State College, and called on Negro leaders to read the riot act to militants after the April burnings in Baltimore. About 100 Negro moderates walked out. So Thurmond agreed that Agnew would not antagonize the South.

Nixon's mistake, however, was in not consulting the moderates. He consulted the South but forgot the moderates. They were sore, highways, and in the occasional unkempt structure that blights so many of the residential sections of our towns and cities.

But visual pollution in its most garish form, some think, especially the New York State Natural Beauty Commission, is exemplified in the "bigger and better" neon-lighted advertising signs that line the approaches to almost every town and city of the nation.

In stating their position, the commission has said, "Americans have become so increasingly accustomed to visual ugliness that the big, bold, brassy sign is now actually tolerated as reflecting a powerful affluent society. The danger is perhaps not so much that this visual pollution exists, but that eventually we may forget there is a better way for Americans to live!"

not so much at the choice of Agnew, a fellow moderate, but at not being consulted.

Whether Nixon's calculated risk in working with Thurmond will pay off now remains to be seen. The two men have known and liked each other ever since the Eisenhower administration when Nixon presided over the Senate. Thurmond, as governor of South Carolina, had bolted the Democratic party in 1948 to form a third party against Harry Truman after Hubert Humphrey, then mayor of Minneapolis, had forced a showdown on civil rights.

Though Humphrey won the civil rights battle, the entire South walked out of the convention, and a majority of the South voted for Strom Thurmond's third party that fall. This is one reason Nixon figured he could combat the Wallace third party movement this fall—20 years later.

But ever since he bolted the Democratic party, Thurmond has been a lonely figure in the Senate. He is charming, likable, a regular attendant at prayer breakfasts. But as a Republican he is no longer welcome among Southern Senators, and moderate Republican Senators don't quite trust his politics. In fact, Republicans fumed when Thurmond was appointed to the Republican Policy Committee. For a time, Sen. Richard Russell, the elder statesman from Georgia, was not enthusiastic about having Strom on his Armed Services Committee.

One aspect of Thurmond's career which fellow Senators are skeptical about is his very close ties with the right wing military, including retired Gen. Edwin Walker, who was transferred from Germany after he indoctrinated his troops with some of the teachings of the John Birch Society. Thurmond, a major general in the Army Reserve, was one of Walker's champions.

Senators Thurmond and Tower of Texas, the two lone Southern Republicans, have been thrown together by both geography and politics. Tower even loaned Thurmond his ghostwriter, Horace Clay, to help the Senator from South Carolina write a book. They should be reasonably effective in aiding Nixon in the South.

One incident in Strom Thurmond's life which South Carolinians will never let him forget is how he invited the first Negro governor of the Virgin Islands, William H. Hastie, to stay at the executive mansion in Columbia, S.C., when Thurmond was governor of that state.

Thurmond, of course, did not know that Hastie was a Negro!

"It is my earnest hope," wrote Thurmond, "that you and your family will honor South Carolina with a visit, and be our guests at the mansion."

The Negro governor was tactful. He thanked the governor of South Carolina for "your gracious invitation to me and my family," but said his children were quite young and that it would be difficult for him to travel extensively. In return, Hastie invited Thurmond to "visit the Virgin Islands and be our guest at Government House."

The Unknown Quantity

The selection of Gov. Spiro Agnew as Richard M. Nixon's running mate on the Republican ticket caught everyone including Gov. Agnew by surprise.

Having talked to many people and having pieced all the facts together I can now reveal how the Republicans made this choice.

An hour after Nixon was nominated to be his party's standard bearer he started conferring with Republican leaders as to who would be the vice-presidential candidate.

The debate lasted well into the morning and from all reports it became bitter and occasionally acrimonious.

This is how some of it went. A party leader said, "What we need to balance the Republican ticket is an unknown quantity, somebody that the people don't know, somebody that they've never heard of before, somebody who could unite the party."

Buchwald

"That's all well and good," a second party spokesman said. "But where can we find someone at this late date that isn't a household name?"

A third member of the group, "How about what's-his-name?"

"Who?"

"You know, the senator from somewhere in the Midwest. I forget which state."

"He might be a possibility, but would the South take him?"

"I think it should be an unknown quantity from the West. If we're going to pick someone nobody's heard of, he should at least balance the ticket geographically."

"What about Mark Hatfield?"

"He's too well known. He's been mentioned by the press as a possibility, so people know who he is."

"They may know him, but he's certainly not a household name."

"Nevertheless there are some voters in the United States who have heard of him, and therefore it would be too risky to nominate him. Don't forget this time we want to win."

"He's right," said one of

Home From the Convention

(c) N. Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON — There has been a lot of noise from Sweeney's house these last few days. Mrs. Sweeney says it's because Sweeney went to the Republican convention and, now that he's back home, can't readjust to reality.

Baker

"Sweeney got back Saturday night," she says. "He walks into the parlor, sets down his bags, gives me and the kids the V-for-Victory salute and bawls out, 'My fellow Americans, I bring you a man who will meet the challenge without partisanship, a man who has never been found wanting, a man who has been marked by destiny,' and so on."

Sweeney was nominating himself as a favorite-son candidate for standard bearer of the Sweeney household. After staging a 20-minute demonstration in which he upset the coffee table and broke the Tiffany lampshade, he started to endorse himself with four seconding speeches.

He was half way through the third when the doctor arrived and gave him a sedative. After that things quieted down except for an occasional bellow in the night. "The children will clear the aisles and Mrs. Sweeney will take her seat!" was one of those bellows, it awakened the whole neighborhood about 4:30 a.m.

Next morning when Sweeney came down to breakfast he insisted that Mrs. Sweeney open the proceedings by singing "The Star Spangled Banner." She obliged him. The doctor had told her that Sweeney was merely suffering an onset of congenita praecox which, with humming, would pass rapidly as the ordeal of his experience began to recede into memory.

"Well," Mrs. Sweeney says, "after I sang the anthem he seemed more like his old self, at least until I served the egg course."

Sweeney likes his eggs sunny side up, and that morning they were scrambled. "Madame chairman! Madame chairman!" Sweeney roared. "I request that the table be polished!"

Sweeney, it turned out, wanted to take a head count among the children to determine how many supported scrambled eggs and how many were for eggs sunny side up. The vote went 3 to 1 for scrambled and Sweeney conceded that under the unit rule he had been defeated.

"Off the record," he told a neighbor over the hedge that afternoon, "there's been some erosion in my egg count this morning, but when the family sees I'm the only man who can unify it, they'll all be with me on the first ballot."

As chance would have it, the day happened to be Sweeney's birthday and just when it appeared that he was coming back to reality -- he had turned on the TV set and settled down with the comic strips -- the children presented him with a necktie.

Naturally he had to make an acceptance speech. It lasted 45 minutes. "Sweeney had the children in tears," Mrs. Sweeney says. "He said he'd wear that necktie from the mountain to the prairie to the ocean white with foam, through amber waves of grain, through purple mountain majesties and across the fruited plain."

"When Sweeney said he accepted that necktie in the spirit of Abraham Lincoln and law and order, and in humble opposition to the Supreme Court, even I wanted to cheer."

Later there was a big birthday party. Sweeney seemed perfectly normal until he discovered that the Kents and the Hobcoxes weren't acquainted with each other.

"It is with a feeling of utter inadequacy," he told Sam Kent, "that I stand before you tonight for the purpose of introducing a man whose achievements have long since made him an office-holder name in the great and distinguished firm of Pearson, Forbes & Auchincloss, A Montanan by birth, a true son of the land of shining mountains, he brings to his every endeavor that spirit of freshness and open air that mark him as truly a man for all seasons. And so, Sam Kent, I give you a great ad man, a patriotic martini drinker, and one of the real human beings of our magnificent subdivision -- Mickey Hobcox!"

The party had come to a standstill while this was going on, and when Sweeney began his introduction of Kent -- "I stand here in all humility to present to you a true son of civil engineering, a Connecticut engineer who has always" -- the other guests began seeking the shelter of their automobiles.

When Sweeney had finished even the Kents and the Hobcoxes had taken the opportunity to slip away unnoticed. Mrs. Sweeney got Sweeney to bed quietly enough at last.

Pennsylvania News Service
HARRISBURG — Just how "critical"—to Pennsylvania—is the outcome last week of the Republican National Convention on the presidential and vice-presidential candidate front?

For the first time in many a presidential campaign year it is generally viewed as "most critical"—no matter how you look at it.

To bluntly illustrate the point: what happens on the presidential election front this November unquestionably will in large degree determine whether the Keystone State this fall goes Democratic or Republican—and with this pendulum will swing a packet of top flight statewide offices, to say nothing of a host of strictly local offices that will be equally affected.

The stakes thus are irritatingly high, when you're a habitué of the local Republican Club or Democratic Club. The stakes are there regardless of your personal affiliation.

If the pre-convention pro-Rockefellerites were correct in their coyly veiled warnings that former Vice-President Nixon as the GOP presidential candidate would not carry Pennsylvania in the fall, the roof most certainly will crash down on the noggin of Republicans in this state.

With such a swing this would mean that Pennsylvania Republicans, still in the party rebuilding process following the Scrantonian win of only six years ago, in all probability will find themselves crowding the walling wall in November—as their Democratic counterparts joyfully initiate their hoped-for return-to-the-mound climb.

Undeniably, the price Republicans would pay in the fall in the loss of Pennsylvania could be almost catastrophic (for Republicans, that is).

For example, should Pennsylvania go Democratic in the presidential swing there is every reason to believe one or both houses of the State Legislature would swing in the same direction. All 203 seats in the House of Representatives are up for filling, while half of the 50 seats in the Senate are on the block (and the count in Senate as it stands now rounds out to 27 Republican seats—only one above the exact number required for control—and 22 Democratic seats, plus one vacancy).

Should Pennsylvania go Democratic, the two state fiscal offices of Auditor General and State Treasurer in all probability would swing along too.

Additionally, Pennsylvania's lone U. S. Senate seat (it has two) now held by incumbent Democrat Senator Joseph Sill Clark could be caught in the grinder—and if not caught in any such swing, faces a good possibility of being nipped away by Republican Congressman Richard S. Schweiker who as a vote-gatherer has proven himself repeatedly even when

The Republican Team

The selection of Governor Agnew was, as we all know, a surprise, but it didn't take long for the delegates to get over it. Instant research into the history of the relatively obscure lawyer who a few months ago was clamoring for the nomination of Mr. Nixon's arch-antagonist Nelson Rockefeller falls to betray any serious weakness the Democrats are likely to profit from. He rescued Maryland, in 1966, from the leadership of a Democrat committed to segregationism, and did so only two years after George Wallace, running in a presidential primary, had demonstrated how greatly disposed Maryland was to the old allure of segregation. Indeed, the candidacy of Agnew was endorsed by the Washington Post and the Baltimore Sun; so much for a Wasserman test, pre-1968.

But then Governor Agnew, in the spring of this year, took certain measures and made certain statements which distinguished him from the school of men that bravely justifies any civil disorder at all on the grounds that four hundred years ago slaves were brought into this country by our forefathers. Governor Agnew answered a sit-down seizure of a local college by arresting a couple of hundred students, no less. He then read a lecture to local Negro leaders instructing them that their own interests, to say nothing of those of the community of Baltimore, lay in a firm repudiation of such as Rap Brown and Stokely Carmichael. He went on to deplere—and for such penetration and courage he should have riveted national attention—the Kerner Commission report, wherein we were instructed that the reason why we have had riots and disorders, is that white Americans are racist.

Governor Agnew's position is that such an analysis is at best incomplete, and worst misleading. No doubt it was his stand on that report, combined with his stand against riots and disorder in general, that drew him to the attention of Southern leaders as out of the ordinary among civil rights governors. And then, having earlier resigned himself, with no apparent trauma, to Nelson Rockefeller's unavailability to make the race for the presidency, Governor Agnew popped up in support of Richard Nixon. His doing so attracted a great deal of attention and in due course, what do you know, he was singled out by the presidential nominee Mr. Nixon as his running mate.

There was considerable confusion in Miami Beach when the announcement was made. For one thing it is generally supposed — it having been stressed over recent years that he is a cunning, crafty man — that Mr. Nixon was being permitted to get away with something. Had he put something over on somebody? There was a lot of murmuring. Little mutinous blips showed up on the screen, and indeed Governor Romney permitted a few zealous supporters to put up his own name as an alternative. But the opposition was anarchic and diffuse. Moreover, it was impossible to sustain it by moral arguments. A moral case against Governor Agnew was simply not available.

Such a case against him as

Getting A College Loan

Congress has just raised the interest cost on Federal-state guaranteed student loans from an obsolete 6 to a realistic 7 per cent. As a result, you, the middle-income family and you, the average student, have a chance of getting one of these valuable long-term loans. Here are answers to vital questions about the program:

Q. Who gets the loans?

A. Regardless of your family's financial status, you, the student in good academic standing in an approved institution, are eligible for these loans. The loan is made directly to you, not to your parents.

Q. What interest rates are charged?

A. A maximum rate of 7 per cent per year, in simple interest. In addition, there may be a charge for an insurance premium up to 1/2 per cent a year on the unpaid principal balance.

Q. If your family's adjusted income is under $15,000 a year, the Federal Government pays the entire 7 per cent interest while you're in college. If your family's adjusted income is $15,000 or more, you must pay the full 7 per cent while you're in school as well as after graduation.

Q. How much can a student borrow?

A. The rules vary from state to state, but generally an undergraduate student can borrow as much as $1,000 for each academic year, up to a total of $5,000. A full-time graduate school or professional school student can borrow a maximum of $1,500 a year. The combined maximum for undergraduate and postgraduate study is $7,500—a really meaningful share of the typical student's total costs for higher education.

Q. When do you repay the loans?

A. The repayment period doesn't begin until nine to 12 months after graduation. If you borrow more than $2,000 your repayment period may extend from five to 10 years after graduation—subject to a maximum of 15 years from the date of your first loan—but there is no penalty for repayment.

Q. If you join the Peace Corps or Vista after graduation, or if you go into military service, you usually get a special moratorium on payments during your period of service.

Q. Where do you get the loans?

A. At any one of 17,000 participating institutions—commercial banks, their branches, mutual savings banks, savings and loan associations and credit unions.

Q. How do you apply?

A. If your local banks are not participating, ask your state guaranteed loan agency or a nearby college which lending institutions in your area are in the program. Then visit the lenders and ask for the appropriate application forms.

Q. Must a bank or other lender make a loan to you?

A. No. Whether you get a loan, and the amount of the loan, will depend on the policy of the lending institution, the supply of reserve funds at your state's student loan guarantee agency, the amount of your education expenses and needs. But if every lender turns you down, go back to your college financial aid officer and ask for his advice on what to do.

Q. Are nursing school students eligible?

A. Yes, if you attend any nursing school approved by the U.S. Office of Education.

This revised program is the best financial source you, the non-scholarship student of the middle-income family, have. Get started now on your loan search, before the 1968-69 school year begins in September.

Tomorrow: Other Financial Aid Sources.

Five persons left for induction into the Army. Comprising the group were Byron W. Hamm, RD Warren; Donald W. Mohney, Kinross; Henry E. Pilling, Pittsfield; George E. Reiff, Warren; and Stephen E. Stewart, Russell.

Hughes Offers to Buy Airline Because He Doesn't Like Service to Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Multi-millionaire Howard Hughes offered Monday to buy Air West Airlines for as much as $80 million because, aides said, he doesn't like its service to Las Vegas.

If the purchase is approved by stockholders and the Civil Aeronautics Board, it would be Hughes' first airline venture since he sold his Trans-World Airline stock in 1966 for about $500 million.

In Seattle, Wash., Air West Chairman Nick Bez said he and "others representing a substantial amount of stock" would support a $22-a-share offer from Hughes. Air West has 3.7 million shares outstanding, which figures out to about $80 million at $22 a share.

In New York, David R. Grace, chairman of the Air West executive committee, said he and other officers don't consider the price high enough.

In San Francisco, company president G. Robert Henry agreed with Grace and added, "We also have substantial doubts that the CAB would approve."

The firm was formed recently from the merger of Bonanza, Pacific and West Coast airlines. Air West is the only carrier between Phoenix, Ariz., and Las Vegas and between Las Vegas and Reno, Nev.

Hughes officials said he wants to improve passenger service to and from Las Vegas, where he has acquired vast holdings.

Complaints of delayed flights have been blamed by Air West officials on computer problems.

Edmund Converse, vice chairman for the company, denied there was substantial stockholder support for the Hughes purchase.

"It appears there will be a fight over this matter," he said. "We do not feel that this move is to the best advantage of Air West or the public we serve."

Air West's regular stockholders meeting will be in San Francisco Oct. 14.

Hughes, 62, became a big airline stockholder in the 1930s when he started buying TWA stock at an initial investment of $2 million. He had to share ownership with others, however, and they filed suits accusing him of mismanagement.

Hughes finally sold out, then moved his empire to Las Vegas, where he has spent an estimated $150 million on five casinos, one television station, two airports and extensive property.

He tried to buy controlling interest in American Broadcasting Co. for $148 million last month but was opposed by company officials and bowed out.

NEW NURSING CARE HOSPITAL

This artist's sketch illustrates the new Nursing Care Hospital soon to be erected at the Methodist Home for the aged, Meadville, Pa. The new structure which will cost an estimated $1,726,494 in construction costs plus another estimated $175,000 to furnish, will have 72 nursing care bed rooms of equal size designed for flexibility for use with either one or two beds. The new hospital will begin with 132 beds, with two wings of nursing care rooms.

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the new structure are scheduled for Wednesday in conjunction with the annual meeting of the Sunset Auxiliary of The Methodist Home. Speakers at the ceremonies will include the Rev. James G. Cousins, district superintendent of the Erie District of the United Methodist Church, and a former Warren resident Alan Templeton, a member of the board of directors.

Musmanno Will Not Run For Senate

PITTSBURGH (AP) — State Supreme Court Justice Michael A. Musmanno, citing a higher responsibility to the court, announced Monday he will not run for the U.S. Senate on the Constitutional Party ticket.

In a telegram to Andrew Watson of Harrisburg, party chairman, Musmanno said his decision was dictated by the fact he is next in line as chief justice of the Supreme Court.

In that post, Musmanno said, "I believe I would have an extraordinary opportunity to better serve the cause of justice to which I have dedicated my entire professional life."

The Constitutional Party's candidate is Frank W. Gaydos, a retired Susquehanna County businessman. Gaydos opposes incumbent Democratic Sen. Joseph S. Clark and Republican Rep. Richard Schweiker, but supposedly would have withdrawn to permit a Musmanno candidacy.

The justice made his decision public about a half hour before Gaydos could have withdrawn if he wished.

Musmanno also criticized Clark, his arch political enemy.

Musmanno blasted Clark for the senator's Vietnam stance which he said is "making it increasingly difficult at the negotiating table in Paris."

The justice said Clark's denunciation of the U.S. position "encourages the Communists to continue fighting and to continue killing American boys."

In declaring himself out of the race, Musmanno said he would continue to support the government in fighting Communism and pledged "never to desist in battling against racial, ethnic and all other types of intolerance and bigotry."

Steel Production Decreases 7.5%

NEW YORK (AP) — Steel production last week decreased 7.5 per cent to 2,068 million tons from 2,235 million tons the previous week, the American Iron and Steel Institute reported Monday.

Output for the year to date totaled 88,012 million tons, up 16.7 per cent from 75,435 million tons in the like period last year. The index of production (100 equals 1957-59 average) by district last week: northeast coast 99, Buffalo 123, Pittsburgh 99, Youngstown 97, Cleveland 127, Detroit 125, Chicago 102, Cincinnati 130, St. Louis 125, southern 156, and western 136.

Pat Nugent Is Training For Action in Vietnam

PHAN RANG, Vietnam (AP) — Airman 1c, Patrick J. Nugent, President Johnson's son-in-law, is in training for a new job that should let him see a good deal of South Vietnam, including where the action is.

Nugent, who arrived in Vietnam April 13 for a one-year tour, is stationed at the U.S. Air Force Base at Phan Rang, on the central coast, 175 miles northeast of Saigon.

He's a member of the 309th Special Operations Squadron, in training to be a loadmaster on the Air Force's C-123, a twin-engine prop plane that carries cargo and men to all parts of the country.

The second phase of his training, called on-job training or OJT by the military, began in the middle of July. Nugent is flying as an apprentice loadmaster on C-123s making hops all over Vietnam, and possibly to Thailand and Laos.

A fully qualified loadmaster accompanies him on each of the trips until mid-September, when Nugent will be fully qualified.

Information about Nugent's exact whereabouts on the base, and about his flights, is classified. At his request, the Air Force has kept newsmen away.

This is Nugent's second job in Vietnam. His reserve unit, the 113th Tactical Fighter Wing, was called to active duty last February during the crisis over North Korea's seizure of the USS Pueblo. Nugent applied for duty in Vietnam, where the President's other son-in-law, Marine Capt. Charles Robb, also is serving.

His first assignment was as a bombloader at Cam Ranh Bay air base. But Nugent asked for a transfer to the potentially more dangerous assignment as a C-123 loadmaster.

After he is qualified, Nugent could be transferred to any of four other airbases where C-123s are stationed. He could remain with one of the two C-123 squadrons at Phan Rang, or he could be sent to Da Nang, near where Capt. Robb is stationed, or to Saigon's Tan Son Nhut airport, or Phu Cat air base, 300 miles up the coast from Saigon, or to Bien Hoa air base, 20 miles northeast of Saigon.

The C-123s flying out of Bien Hoa are used in the military's defoliation program. As a loadmaster, Nugent will average one and a half days on the job and one and a half days off. When he's not flying, Nugent will pull all the duties of any enlisted man, including overnight charge of quarters, collecting money for meals at the mess hall, and cleaning the barracks.

As a loadmaster, Nugent will earn his $343.60 monthly salary. The C-123s do everything from carrying Montagnard tribesmen, allied troops and other passengers from one airstrip to another, to ferrying loads of vegetables from Dalat, in the central highlands, to U.S. bases.

Nugent will be due for one week's R&R (rest and recuperation) in mid-October, and can go to one of six Asian countries or Honolulu, possibly for a reunion with wife Luci and their year-old son, Lynn.

Philadelphia Gas Loses $9 Million Tax Rebate

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A chance to get a $9 million tax rebate, dating back to 1959, has been lost by Philadelphia gas consumers because of a ruling by the State Supreme Court.

The ruling last week ended a nine-year court battle waged against a 14-mill tax by the city of Philadelphia, United Gas Improvement Co., and the borough of Chambersburg.

The tax applied only to the two municipally-owned gas plants. UGI operates Philadelphia's gas works.

Former Mayor Richardson Dilworth, UGI counsel, argued the case before the high court last January. He accused the state of political expediency in setting the tax. "The state needed $1 million," he argued, "and decided to hang it on Philadelphia."

The gross receipts tax is imposed on certain utilities, but an amendment exempted municipally-owned utility plants, except gas works.

Philadelphia and Chambersburg attacked the statute as violating the uniformity clause of the State Constitution.

In a 5-1 decision, the court said the two municipalities failed to show there is no reasonable basis for distinguishing gas from electric companies.

Hubert Humphrey To Swing Through Pa.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, campaigning hard for the Democratic presidential nomination, will make a swing through Pennsylvania later this week.

Humphrey will campaign Thursday in New Jersey before flying to the Allentown-Bethlehem area for an overnight stay.

He will attend a Friday breakfast at Hess' department store in Allentown. The vice president is an old friend of Philip I. Berman, Hess' president.

Humphrey then will fly to Pittsburgh to meet delegates and their wives at a luncheon.

An Associated Press poll puts 28 Pennsylvania delegates in the vice president's camp, with eight for Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota and 17 uncommitted.

Little Rock Disorders Blamed On Penal Farm Conditions

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — National Guardsmen and police patrolled Little Rock Monday after three nights of minor racial unrest. A Roman Catholic priest blamed the disorder on "segregated, unsanitary and brutal" conditions at the county penal farm.

The Rev. Thomas McVeigh Smith told a news conference that if changes are not made in the penal farm and prison system, more trouble would come.

"I don't think the black community will allow the situation to remain the same," he said. "I would approve of a demonstration to protest conditions, although I don't endorse a violent one."

Nab Poachers On Lake Erie

ERIE — Three Canadian trawlers were spotted fishing illegally in Lake Erie and hauled into a Coast Guard station Sunday. Their captains were fined.

Members of the Pennsylvania Fish Commission saw the trawlers as the state officials flew over Lake Erie taking a survey. The trawlers, all registered out of Dover, Canada, were about 12 miles off shore from North East, Pa., according to Norm Ely, State Waterways patrolman.

The boats' trawl lines were out and each boat contained about 3,000 lbs. of smelt.

It is illegal for Canadians to fish commercially in U.S. waters. The "border" extends about 17 miles off shore, Coast Guard officials at Presque Isle stated.

Pennsylvania law allows for a reciprocal commercial fishing agreement; if Canada would agree to let Americans fish their waters, they could fish in American territory. But Canada doesn't permit it.

RED RIBBON WINNER

The Forest County 4-H Club had a red ribbon winner in the Photography Demonstration Contest at State 4-H Days on The Pennsylvania State University campus, August 5-7. Sandra Bean is shown with one of her demonstration posters. Also competing in the Vegetable Judging Contest were Beverly Allio, William And-ring and Deborah McWilliams. Over 1,000 4-H members from throughout the Commonwealth participated in the various judging and demonstration events. All youths presenting demonstrations were winners of county and regional contests which were held last month.

The William Rices Return From York Convention

Warren County Register and Recorder William E. Rice, with Mrs. Rice and daughter, Joan, of 610 Henry st., have returned from York, Pa. where they attended the annual register of wills convention, held at the Hotel Yorktowne. Since the temperature remained in the high 90's, it was fortunate that sessions were held in air conditioned comfort.

It was not elsewhere in the former capitol, what with a 10:30 p. m. curfew resulting from racial tension some nine blocks from the hotel. While the city was generally quiet, isolated incidents continued to plague the area. Sale of firearms and ammunition was prohibited as well as sale of gasoline other than that pumped directly into the tanks of motor vehicles.

On Thursday, those participating in the convention, were some 38 miles away at Allenberry Park for a chicken barbecue and an evening of pure pleasure in viewing the Allenberry Playhouse production of "The Music Man." It came as somewhat of a surprise to learn Friday morning that police (with dogs) were called to the Yorktowne about 8:56 p. m. Thursday by a bomb threat.

York city officials met with representatives of the troubled district in an effort to solve the local problems. At least one police officer was suspended. Newsmen from the morning newspaper drew $100 fines for allegedly refusing to obey lawful orders by police.

York Mayor John L. Snyder, despite the unrest, found a few moments to welcome those at the convention session. On the lighter side, it was interesting to take a quick look at fashions. Surprisingly few, except for the younger generation— not teenagers — were mini-clad. For the most part, skirts were strictly knee-length and just a nite below. Store windows displayed fall and winter apparel, which failed to appeal due to the extreme heat. All and all the four days were more than worth while as friends from 57 of the 67 counties of the Commonwealth were briefly reunited.

Mount Vernon, the Washington homestead in Virginia, was named after Adm. Vernon of the British Royal Navy.

Time Savers For Smart Brides

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Homemakers can either sink or swim . . .

The ones who sink aren't doing the best possible job for themselves and their families. They merely flounder through their duties.

The swimmers know the score when it comes to homemaking. They run a household economically and efficiently, and keep it a place the family can call "home." These women have learned to make the best use of their resources — time, energy and money.

How can a woman be a successful homemaker? One who makes the best use of every minute of her working day and dollar.

Planning and organization are the key words to "wife-preserving." Grocery lists, work schedules, menus, budgets and common sense help make her life easier and more enjoyable.

Let's look at the time and energy resources first:

You can cut down on time and energy spent on housework by using the same principles industrial engineers do, says Louis Frangipane, industrial engineer at Electronic Communications Inc. (ECI).

Simulate whenever possible. That means getting one job going and doing another while waiting for the first to finish. For example — start the coffee, then set the automatic washer going. By the time you're done in the laundry, the coffee will be ready.

While the clothes are washing, clean the living room or a bedroom. Dust with both hands at the same time. (It works!) When making sandwiches, place the top slices of bread on with the left hand, cutting sandwich with right hand at same time — and so on.

Plan a week's menu at a time, "because every time you go to the store, you buy something you didn't plan to," says Mrs. Charlotte Lattimer, county extension home economics agent. Do your grocery shopping in the morning — you're not tired and hungry then, and not as apt to overbuy.

Make a shopping list ahead of time, making decisions before you start your trip.

Read labels to compare price in terms of quality and quantity.

Autumn Wedding Dates Announced For Brides-Elect

REBECCA BEEDLE

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Beedle of Chancellors Valley announce the engagement of their daughter, Rebecca, to Charles Lindell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Lindell of Lander.

The bride-elect is a 1965 graduate of Eisenhower High School, and is presently employed at Sylvania Electric Products, Warren. Her fiancé is a 1962 graduate of Eisenhower High School and Alfred State University. He has completed two years service with the United States Army including a tour of duty in Vietnam. He is presently employed by Railroad Perishable Foods Inspection Agency in Buffalo, N.Y.

Wedding plans are being made for October 5.

ALETA ANN OCHS (Kotof Studio)

Miss Aleta Ann Ochs of 1203 Pennsylvania ave. W., the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Regis W. Ochs, announces her engagement to Jerry Michael Nichols, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter F. Nichols of 1520 Aldagheny avenue, Warren.

Miss Ochs, a 1966 graduate of St. Joseph's School in Lucinda, also attended the Warren Campus of Edinboro College. Mr. Nichols, a 1965 graduate of Warren Area High School, is a 1967 graduate of Williamsport Area Community College.

A September 21 wedding is being planned.

Most amateur photographs are of children, family groups and household pets.

Attractive labels don't make food taste any better. Freezers can save you money if you have a sizeable family and can buy economically in quantity. Store a wide range of items for convenience and savings.

When buying at sales, consider the time, energy and money costs of getting there. Shop at the start of the sale for best selection. Be sure the sale price is an actual reduction. Watch for damages, check style — and remember, nothing's a bargain unless you need it. Avoid impulse buying. Shop with a list. If it's a major purchase you're considering, sleep on it — make your decision after you've had ample time to think it over. Don't shop when you're in a hurry — chances are you'll be dissatisfied later. ## Nuptial Vows Exchanged In 1st Methodist Crary Chapel

The Crary Chapel of the First United Methodist Church was the setting for the double ring wedding service on Saturday afternoon at 1:30, August 10, which united in marriage Lynora Riggs Glass and Frank Michael Nichols III, The Rev. Dr. Adolph P. Weaver, pastor of the church, presided at the ceremony in the presence of the immediate families only.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Shurl S. Glass of 336 Buchanan street, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Betty Nichols of 1001 Conewango ave., Warren, and Mr. Frank Nichols Jr. of Pittsburgh.

Two vases of white gladioli and pompons ornamented the altar, and the wedding music was provided by organist William Brocklebank.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore an afternoon length gown of white re-embroidered lace over bridal taffeta, styled in an a-line silhouette. A narrow satin band defined the empire waistline; the molded bodice had a portrait neckline and long fitted sleeves; a satin border outlined the graceful floating panel of lace which was secured with satin petals. Her veil of English silk illusion was caught to a wreath of pearlized orange blossoms and she carried one long-stemmed rose. The maid of honor, Miss Mary Ellen Gambrel of Winnebago, Ill., was in a pink silk afternoon length dress, styled the same as the bride's. Her headpiece was a Dior bow of the same material as the dress and she carried a bouquet of pink carnations and red sweetheart roses.

The best man was David B. Jones of Aberdeen, Maryland, and the usher was S. Douglass Glass, brother of the bride.

The mother of the bride wore an aqua crepe dress with accessories of matching color and a corsage of yellow cymbidium orchids. The mother of the groom was in beige crepe with avocado accessories and had a corsage of green cymbidium orchids. Mrs. H. L. Riggs, the maternal grandmother of the bride, of Lexington, Ky., Mrs. Laura M. Glass, the paternal grandmother of the bride, of Oil City, and Mrs. Jay Callen, the maternal grandmother of the groom, of Sligo, all were remembered with corsages of white roses.

The reception was held at the Woman's Club with one hundred and twenty-five in attendance. The decorative scheme was carried out in pink and red with pink gladioli and red sweetheart roses gracing the bride's table. The four tier wedding cake had one red rose on each tier; individual tables were ornamented with bouquets of pink and red carnations. Master and mistress of ceremonies were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur DeLuca; aides were Mrs. Gary Valone, sister of the groom, Miss Janet Dougherty, cousin of the bride, Mrs. Ione Dougherty, aunt of the bride, Mrs. George Sarvis, Miss Sherry Coates, Mrs. David B. Jones.

For a honeymoon trip to New York City and through New England, the new Mrs. Nichols wore a double knit dress and coat ensemble in brown and white, with white accessories and a white glamella corsage.

The bride and groom are both graduates of Warren Area High School and Michigan State University at East Lansing. Mrs. Nichols holds a Bachelor of Arts degree in French, and the groom a Bachelor of Arts degree in Television and Radio.

The rehearsal dinner was given in the Driftwood in Jamestown, N. Y. The bride's luncheon was given by Mrs. Arthur DeLuca in the Surrey Room at the Penn Laurel.

Out of town guests attended from Rochester and North Collins, N. Y.; Winnebago, Ill.; Aberdeen, Md.; Lexington, Ky.; Toledo, Ohio; Pittsburgh, Oil City, Sligo, Clarion, Seneca and Edinboro, Penna.

Only 64 days of the year fall to receive legal recognition as a day off from work somewhere in the world.

St. Michael's Notes

Thursday is a Holy Day of Obligation, the Feast of the Assumption of the Blessed Virgin Mary. The Divine Liturgy will be sung at 9 a. m. and at 7 p. m. This feast commemorates the happy death of the B. V. Mary. Her death was so calm and free from pains and sorrows that it seemed to be a sleep, hence the designation The Dormition of the B.V.M. is used in the Eastern Church.

This feast was introduced in the II or III century, for Pope Gelasius I (492-496) calls it very old in one of his letters. In the fifth century it spread to the whole Church. After the Divine Liturgy the priest blesses flowers for the people.

Bishop Stephen J. Kocisko ordained Thomas Ralph Chelena of Brownsville to the Holy Priesthood in St. John the Baptist Cathedral in Munhall on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Pilgrimage to the Shrine of Our Lady of Mariapoch in Welshfield, Ohio, will take place this Wednesday, August 14, through Sunday, August 18. This is the twelfth annual pilgrimage conducted by the Basilian Fathers.

Cardinal Joseph Slipy will leave for Bogota, Colombia, to attend the Eucharistic Congress and meet with Pope Paul, and also to dedicate the new Ukrainian cathedral in Buenos Aires, Argentina, on August 16.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Babala and family of Lackawanna, N. Y. were guests at the Sunday choral Divine Liturgy.

Mr. and Mrs. John Himchak of Silver Spring, Md., who are visiting in the area, attended the special convocation in honor of Cardinal Slipy in Caldwell Hall at Catholic Univ. of America in Wash., D. C. where Cardinal O'Boyle conferred the degree Doctor of Laws upon the Archbishop Major of Lwiw, Ukraine.

If the Shoe Fits-

James R. Valone

Footsaver Education Will shoes bought last Easter still fit?

After a summer of barefoot freedom in canvas shoes, sandals, or no shoes at all, it is very difficult to say whether the leather shoes bought last spring are really too small or just stiffer than the children are accustomed to.

Healthy feet are the foundation of a healthy body. Nothing that we buy to clothe a child for back-to-school is as important as the shoes that will keep his feet straight or deform them with bunions. Put proper shoe fitting high on your back-to-school list.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My sister has entered her 15-year-old daughter in a beauty contest and it is making us all sick. Bettylou is built like a Swedish 20-year-old, if you get the picture. She gets A's from the men teachers and is flunked by the women teachers. I hope you get THAT picture, too. All the emphasis has been on looks and figure and sex appeal and the poor kid is going to end up a professional party girl if something isn't done to open her mother's eyes.

Last night we were at my sister's house for dinner. There were 10 of us present — all family. My sister said, "Honey, why don't you model the bathing suit you're going to wear in the contest? It will be good to practice walking."

In five minutes Bettylou was sashaying through the living room in a bikini that didn't have 50 cents worth of material in it. My brother-in-law Herman almost swallowed his dentures which surprised me because Bessie (his wife) has been referring to him as "my dead battery" for the last 10 years.

I like beauty as well as the next person, but I don't see anything beautiful about a 15-year-old girl showing her behind to the whole world. Please print this letter so my sister can see it. She'll know it's for her and I hope it helps. — DORIS

DEAR DORIS: Here's the letter but don't expect it to change anybody's mind. I feel sorry for any girl whose brains are in her bikini. Obviously Bettylou's mother has encouraged her along these lines and one day the chickens will come home to roost.

DEAR ANN: Your frankness is refreshing and I admit I enjoy it when you tell a reader off. Now, perhaps it is my turn to get told off, and I hope you will not spare the horses if you think I have it coming.

Teddy and I have been married 11 years. We have no children. Teddy is a good husband and I am trying my darndest to be a good wife.

His job has brought him to this foreign country which I hope you will not name because I wouldn't want to insult the people. Teddy signed up to stay here 18 months. Four months have passed and I am so miserable I could die. I can't speak the language. The climate is wretched. Living conditions are primitive. The food is dreadful. The prices are high. The people are not friendly.

I have considered going back home, getting a job and saving some money. Teddy has begged me to stay. I should tell you he is very attractive and the women here have that look in their eyes when they talk to him at social gatherings.

What should I do? — NEED YOUR WISDOM

DEAR NEED: Some people don't know when they've got it good. Lady, you should read the letters I get from wives whose husbands are fighting the war in a neighboring country. They would give their eye teeth to be there with them — in the "wretched" climate, eating the "dreadful" food and paying those high prices.

Get off your back porch and quit griping. Learn the language and make yourself useful. The orphanages and hospitals over there can use a strong, healthy American girl.

MRS. ROBERT W. BINGHAM JR., (Armstrong, Titusville)

Christine Savage Of Titusville Weds Robert W. Bingham Jr.

Christine L. Savage, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William C. G. Savage of RD 2, Titusville, became the bride of Robert W. Bingham Jr., of Warren, Ohio, on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, August 10, in the Titusville United Presbyterian Church. The wedding vows were pledged before an altar ornamented with ferns and white gladioli.

The groom is the son of Mr. Robert W. Bingham of Hightstown, New Jersey.

Officiating at the service was the Rev. Joseph Leckie who read the double ring wedding rites. Mrs. Hannah Leckie provided traditional music and vocal soloist was Donald Mowrey of Titusville.

Escorted on the arm of her father, the bride approached the altar in a long cage gown of sheer organza which revealed a fitted sheath. The yoke of the gown, with rounded neckline and cap sleeves, was of Venetian lace which also enhanced the graceful folds of the sweeping chapel length train. Her bouffant veil of French illusion was secured by a daisy headpiece centered with organza roses and she carried a cascade of white roses and ivy.

The honor attendant was Miss Janice Wakefield of Falls Church, Va., in yellow chiffon with matching daisy headpiece and circular veil. She carried a cascade of yellow and white daisies and ivy. Costumed identically were the bridesmaids, Miss Susan Boyle of Titusville, and Miss Karen DeLap of Schenectady, N. Y.

The best man was Walfrid Pello of Warren, Ohio, and ushers were James Dietrick of Kent, Ohio, and Harold Grupp of Pittsburgh.

The mother of the bride wore mint green linen with white accessories and a white gardenia corsage.

The reception was held in Collage Inn, Pleasantville, with one hundred and fifty in attendance. Arrangements of daisies decorated the tables at which guests were seated. Aides were Miss Kathy Carlson, Miss Ann Von Bremen, Mrs. Sharon Anderson, Mrs. Judy Wig.

For a wedding trip to Bermuda, the new Mrs. Bingham wore a yellow linen dress with white accessories. Upon their return, the newlyweds will reside at Ryther House Apartments in Warren, Ohio. The bride is a 1963 graduate of War-

Hints From Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

My family drinks at least four quarts of milk a day and our milkman came by only every other day.

I hated having eight quarts in the refrigerator one day and none the next, so I solved the problem this way.

I now buy milk from two different companies. They leave me milk on alternate days and now I'm never overstocked one day and out the next. Also I can always be sure of delivery every day in case I need extra milk because of special desserts, or the children's company.

It costs no more to have two milkmen make deliveries than it does for one and the milk I have on hand is fresher.

Anna

DEAR HELOISE:

When baby outgrows the crib, what do you do with those nice crib sheets?

Simply sew two of them end to end and you have sheets for the hard-to-fit 30-inch folding cots or bunks.

Gena L. Geedy

DEAR HELOISE:

We gals who have small children usually stay up after getting hubby off to work.

But if you are like myself and find it hard to start housework at such an early hour don't! Take up a hobby that you've always wanted to do and can never find the time for away from your children and household chores.

I like to crochet but with three small angels I've not had time to sit down quietly and alone to do it.

Recently I've started crocheting during that peaceful hour or two before the gang rises.

I've accomplished something decorative, stayed up, relaxed and am ready to start my day of work.

Norma J. Lappke

DEAR HELOISE:

Have you ever wondered what to do with a can of carbonated beverage when you only use half a can?

If you buy the frozen orange juice with the plastic cover, this cover fits perfectly on the beverage can and helps keep the fizz in.

Gall George

DEAR HELOISE:

Here is a suggestion that has lightened my ironing basket.

When school was out, I dyed my boys' T-shirts various bright colors for summer fun — which also means no ironing sports shirts for me.

Mrs. Carole Jolovich

DEAR HELOISE:

I had tried without success at three different stores to find some three-inch plastic flower pots in which to plant African violets.

As I was passing the picnic supplies, I saw a package of plastic foam beverage cups just the right size and bought some.

I cut a drainage hole in the bottom with a sharp knife and planted the violets as usual.

One nice thing about these "flower pots" is that the rims don't make scars on the underside of African violets as the rims of some plastic and unglazed clay pots often do.

Mrs. William R. Betts

DEAR HELOISE:

I am a pen pal and collect view cards.

After long experimenting, I found the answer to preserving them to be small plastic sandwich bags.

After inserting the cards, I trim the flap ends of the bags and tape them down. Presto, I can see both sides of the cards and the plastic also keeps them nice and clean. They can be removed and reinserted whenever I wish.

I keep my cards by States in my scrap book and they look very nice this way.

Mrs. Eleanor Chamberlain

DEAR HELOISE:

I have a suggestion for gardeners who wear short sleeves.

Cut the toes off your husband's old socks and pull them on your arms. The elbows fit nicely in the heel. They make a longer gauntlet than your gloves and protect your arms from the sun and bushes.

Ray Willard

DEAR HELOISE:

Last Christmas I gave my husband a portable tape recorder.

Whenever we get long distance calls from members of the family he tapes the conversation over an extension phone.

This way our whole family gets to rehear the voice of the caller.

Mrs. R. Schuller

DEAR HELOISE:

Our mattress had gotten out of condition and sagged something awful.

We put a sheet of 1/4" plywood between the mattress and box spring and stopped the sags.

It is now firmer than it was in the first place and is just the way we like it.

Mrs. J. Thomas

DEAR HELOISE:

Whenever I prepare several oranges for a dessert or salad, I find that dropping them in to boiling water for about 1 1/2 minutes until the rind is heated through is the quickest way to peel them.

The rind then comes off clean and easy, and I'm not bothered by squirting juice. This also works on grapefruit.

Opening lead: King of ♠
Altho South encountered strenuous opposition from East and West during the auction, he finally managed to buy the contract for five diamonds, which was doubled by East.

West opened the king of hearts and South ruffed with the four of diamonds. Declarer could count 10 tricks on power alone; eight diamonds, one club, and one spade. There was a good prospect for scoring an 11th if he could reach the dummy twice to lead spades toward the king and queen in his hand, inasmuch as East was pretty well marked with the ace of that suit from the bidding.

The ace of clubs was the only visible entry to the North hand, however, so South decided to find out how much pressure he could apply against his opponent by running the diamond suit. He quickly rattled off six rounds of diamonds, producing this six card position with East not yet having followed to the last trick:

East discarded the ace of hearts, and South now led his last diamond. North gave up the nine of hearts and East found himself hard pressed. He was reluctant to part with the six of clubs, for this would enable declarer to win two tricks in that suit by allowing East to win the first club and then putting up the ace on the next round to drop the king—and thereby establish dummy's jack.

East discarded the seven of spades, but this play only postponed the fatal moment. South now led a club and put in dummy's eight which East topped with the queen. If the latter returned a club it would give North two tricks. East, therefore, cashed the ace of spades and returned the jack. South's king and queen were thereby established for the fulfilling tricks.

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars, FOR TUESDAY, AUGUST 13, 1968

ARIES (March 21 to April 20) — Even though some areas may seem dull, do not "let them be". The Aries' quick thinking and enthusiasm can boost a mediocre day into quite a rewarding one. Show your resourcefulness.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21) — Feel short changed? As though the odds were against you? Think again. In the overall picture, haven't your gains been REALLY greater than your losses. If you don't believe so, you MUST be overlooking some of your benefits.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21) — Don't let the unfamiliar "throw" you. In dealing with strangers or unknown quantities, remain calm — both outwardly and inwardly. Top gains are awaiting you.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23) — You can run an efficient, flexible program, geared to changing situations and taking into consideration the involvements of others, if you keep your normally logical mind well-ordered and free of irrelevant thoughts.

LEO (July 24 to August 23) — Some gains very close now — if you give just a little extra spurt of effort before finalizing undertakings. In personal matters, you may need more patience.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23) — Use this day well: It could prove a total loss if you don't. A cohesive program will run much more smoothly than a spur-of-the-moment set-up. Also, you'll avoid overtaxing yourself.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23) — Depending upon what is required of you, set your own pace and stick to it. You normally do a bang-up job, even in "minor" matters. You now have a new chance to prove yourself.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 22) — You may run into some extraordinary situations now, but the highly competent and optimistic native of Scorpio usually has the know-how to cope with unusual conditions. Stress your fine sense of humor!

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21) — Mixed planetary influences. But optimism, backed by knowledgeable endeavor will help you triumph in all circumstances. Just two admonitions: Don't vacillate and DO maintain a flexible program.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20) — Corral your best ideas, sift thoroughly, then work on those you can handle well and which suit the needs of this day. If involved in negotiations which seem to be getting nowhere, be patient. You can look for an unexpected change for the better.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19) — Feel in liberal mood? Fine, provided you don't give away your thoughts, energies and time foolishly. Return a favor, pay a visit, release your naturally kind words where most welcome and helpful.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20) — You may have to throw in your lot with the opposition, but first consider facts, advantages. Be vigorous in exercise of duties, proper objectives.

YOU BORN TODAY are of a royal, loyal nature, but may be too domineering, too proud. Your personality charms, may even get a position for you, but you will have to practice self-control and patience to hold onto anything worthwhile. Boastfulness characterizes natives of this Sign, though kindness and the ability to aid the underprivileged blend to offset it. Excellent fields for your reliable, expressive talents: Promotion, statesmanship, invention, engineering, stage-craft, salesmanship, politics. Birthdate of: Alfred Hitchcock, writer, motion picture producer; George Grove, composer; Bert Lahr, comedian.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

(c) 1964 by The Chicago Tribune

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

LEPROSY TODAY

DADDIS is the abbreviation for a new drug to treat Hansen's disease (leprosy). The generic name is too long to mention, but the agent is promising, mainly because it need only be given every 11 weeks. In this regard, the medication is made to order for those requiring treatment in many of the less-developed areas of the world.

Leprosy presents a special problem in Africa, Brazil, China, the Philippines, Korea, and India because daily administration of drugs is impossible. Victims living in remote villages and mountainous regions will now get adequate therapy because DADDIS can be given at widely-spaced intervals.

DADDIS is safe to use and just as effective as the other sulfones in the treatment of leprosy. According to the World Health Organization (W.H.O.), 11 million cases exist, but only 3 million are registered. In Africa, up to 10 per cent of some natives are infected. Brazil has tens of thousands of cases. Almost half the registered cases are in Africa, Asia, and the Americas. One in four is under treatment, except in Asia where it is 1 in 8. W.H.O. estimates that there are 2.5 million sufferers in India. There is a definite need for a protective vaccine or prophylactic drug. BCG, an anti-tuberculosis vaccine, is being tried, but the results are inconclusive. Dapsone, as a prophylactic, is being tested in India. Among the untreated the incidence is 13 per cent compared with 6 per cent in the Dapsone-treated group.

No other disease, except cancer, is more frightening than leprosy. This is an unfortunate hangover from biblical times. Actually the disease is not very contagious, and it is unusual for both husband and wife to be afflicted. In addition, prompt therapy may not cure, but it prevents deformity and disability. The stigma is so implanted that today many of those discharged from leprosantries cannot return home but must be assimilated into the general population elsewhere.

TOMORROW: The Fatty Worm Turns.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, addressed envelope accompanies request.

INVALIDS WITH INSOMNIA

S. N. writes: Why doesn't a person who is ill sleep at night even though he has no pain keeping him awake?

REPLY
For the same reasons that healthy persons may remain wakeful. The room may be too hot or cold, or the person may be worried or uncomfortable. In some instances, convalescents take catnaps during the day and are not sleepy at night. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on insomnia.

TODAY'S HEALTH HINT — Cleanliness does much to control cockroaches.

GEORGE SHEARING.

Shearing at Chautauqua Wednesday and Thursday

Chautauqua, New York — George Shearing's "touch of genius" comes to Chautauqua Amphitheater for a concert tomorrow (August 14), and a second performance Thursday, August 15, at 8:30 p. m. The famous jazz pianist and Capitol recording star will be heard tomorrow night in a Pop Concert with his Quintet and the Chautauqua Symphony Orchestra. Mr. Shearing will also be solo in a Bach concerto and will play light classical music with the orchestra.

Thursday evening the George Shearing Quintet will be heard in a program of the music for which they are most famous, such as "High on a Windy Hill," "Black Satin," and "Old Devil Moon," old standards like "Perfidia," and "Cuban Love Song," show tunes like "On the Street Where you Live," and "It Might as Well Be Spring."

George Shearing was born totally blind in 1919 in London, one of eight children. Educated in a school for the blind, he was recognized for his talents and received some musical training in elementary school. Family needs, however, made it necessary for him to help out at home so he bypassed offers of a university scholarship in favor of a piano playing job at a neighborhood pub.

Only sixteen at that time, he continued studying classical music and eventually won super club engagements. He made his first contacts with major figures in the British music industry at that time, while touring Britain with an all-blind band organized by Claude Bampton. Soon he was writing arrangements for the BBC. Before the outbreak of World War II, George, then only twenty, had his own BBC radio show.

He came to the United States in 1948, featured at a night spot called the Clique. The Clique was to become the famous Birdland which George Shearing, composer as well as artist, immortalized in his song, "Lullaby of Birdland." He had a trio in those days consisting of John Levy and Denzil Best. Later he decided to add the vibraphone and a guitar and, with Marjorie Hyams and Chuck Wayne, the George Shearing Quintet was formed.

Since then, George Shearing has won every trade and disk jockey poll of importance — some of them several times. The demand for personal appearances has swelled to international proportions, and he has been named number one pianist in a dozen nations, including Japan, France, Australia, Germany and South Africa.

George Shearing is married to a pretty London girl, Frixie Bayes, whom he met in a London air raid. She has been a strong influence in his musical career and acted as his business manager during his budding career days.

In 1956 George became a naturalized American citizen and presently lives with his wife and daughter, Wendy, in Southern California. Tickets for the George Shearing Pop Concert with the Chautauqua Symphony Orchestra and the George Shearing Quintet jazz concert will be available at the Chautauqua gate on the nights of the performances.

Tuesday's TV Highlights

TODAY brings Joe Garagiola together with two golf pros of the Westchester Golf Tournament. Also appearing are author Richard W. S. Lewis and child psychologist Dr. Haim Ginott. Ch. 2, 12 at 7 a. m.

CONTACT at 9 a. m. on Ch. 4 presents Mrs. Marce Flores, organizer for United Farm Workers Organizing Committee. Her topic is "Help Stamp Out California Grapes."

COLLEGE TALENT is hosted by Ryan O'Neal. Judges include Jim Backus, Barbara Anderson and Greg Morris. Talent singers Peggy Bergman, Harry Hunt and the Morning Ride; plus the brass incorporated instrumentalists. 7:30 on Ch. 2.

SHOWTIME on Ch. 4 at 8 p. m. features hostess Juliet Prowse singing, dancing and clowning with Buddy Greco, English comic Bruce Forsyth, the Dave Clark Five, lyric soprano Joan Carlyle and other British guests.

Warming a Home Only Part of Family's Comfort Needs

Wintertime household comfort depends upon a whole lot more than just warming the air for living purposes, according to Herbert T. Gilkey, director of technical services of the National Warm Air Heating and Air Conditioning Association. "Emphasis is too often placed on a single factor of home comfort—the amount of heat a system can produce," Gilkey declared, explaining that much more than heat is needed to make and keep a home comfortable under all conditions. "If heat were the sole need toward comfortable living, everyone would make his home in the desert, for a desert has plenty of heat. But the desert isn't comfortable."

MANY NEEDS
The widely-recognized industry authority pointed out that a wide range of other air-modifying needs were involved in providing all-round comfort for a family, and indicated that practical homebuyers today select a house equipped with a system that can meet most of these needs.

"The indoor air has to be temperature-treated, cleaned, moved, cooled and generally conditioned to the season if the occupant is to enjoy his home on a year-around basis," Gilkey said.

ALL YEAR COMFORT
Year-around comfort was stressed as a growing need for the selective householder, with the accent being just as heavy for cooling as for winter heating.

"When a person stops to think the matter over," Gilkey said, "he quickly realizes that the air must be tempered and conditioned to meet the changing season's comfort requirements. When this need arises—particularly during the summer months—the change can be speedily and easily effected for the family whose home is equipped with a year-round ducted air system. All that is necessary is to shift from heating to cooling, and this is done by a simple flick of the switch."

HOW IT'S DONE
If your home is heated by a modern gas furnace, you're more than halfway towards owning a gas climate control system—and at great savings. Climate control units: humidifier, air conditioner, and super-filters add on to your present furnace—use existing ductwork.

You can add each unit whenever you see fit—and the combination of all three adds up to total comfort year-around. It's the ultimate in modern comfort living. And here's what it will do for you.

AIR CIRCULATION
Taming the air temperature for comfortable living conditions, though primary considerations, are not the total aims for providing all-around comfort for householders. Continuous movement of the air is another important consideration.

Air changes prevent the living environment from becoming burdened with stagnant air, cooking fumes, stale tobacco smoke and steamy laundry scents.

"And this air circulating service is actually a plus feature for the housewife who senses the need for a clean, fresh-smelling household," he declared, indicating that the primary aim is to keep the air "mixed" to assure a correct temperature balance from floor to ceiling and from room to room as a guarantee of total living comfort.

INDOOR DROUGHT
Listed as another service rendered by gas climate control system is controlled indoor humidity level. He said every home needs carefully balanced relative humidity both summer and winter to assure pleasant indoor living conditions.

"Without this important feature of indoor living comfort many homes may take on the characteristics of the Sahara Desert or the Rain Forest," Gilkey said. He also emphasized the point that proper humidity control facilities are always a part of any gas climate control system, because such a unit can be adjusted to increase or decrease the relative humidity level in accordance with household requirements.

A further benefit cited by indoor humidity control is preservation of the home's furnishings, since effective control of humidity levels prevents drying-out and cracking of furniture.

LAUNDERED AIR
Cleaning the air is another job that must be done to assure home comfort.

Make-up air, which is brought into the home from out-of-doors to compensate for normal household needs, may need a cleaning job before the dweller tries to live with it. As a matter of fact, the air already in the house usually needs some cleaning too. To fulfill this need, an electronic air cleaner becomes a functioning part of the ducted air indoor comfort system. This built-in component virtually "dry washes" the air, filtering out pollen, molds, smog-borne

Your Furnace Breathes Too

Will your forced air furnace respond properly the first time you set up the thermostat this fall? Or will it wheeze and barely manage a feeble flow of warm air?

A few minutes of preventive maintenance can make the difference, especially in the area of filters. Not only will the furnace operate better, but the air you breathe will be cleaner.

Some filters are the throw-away type which have to be replaced every fall, sometimes more often. Another type is the modern, re-usable, aluminum mesh filter. This rust-proof filter consists of an aluminum frame filled with numerous layers of silt and expanded aluminum mesh. The low resistance to air flow and good filtration characteristics of the aluminum mesh are enhanced by coating the mesh with an adhesive which contains bacteria reducing Hexachlorophene. Dust, dirt, and pollen are effectively trapped.

Instead of replacing this filter you merely remove it, wash it in a stream of water, shake it dry, and spray on a new coat of adhesive. In a few minutes you have a filter as good as new—with no trip to the store and no service call.

Be more comfortable and give your furnace a break this fall. Make sure it has plenty of clean air to heat.

particles and other entrapped materials.

Summarizing the all-around designed gas climate control system, Gilkey said it is the most complete, hardest working system in operation today, and assures the householder of the total range of services needed to create a pleasant living environment.

Yaz Carries Silent Bat Compared to Last Year

NEW YORK (AP) — The double trouble that usually hits baseball's triple crown winners is experienced this season by Carl Yastrzemski. Compared to last year, his bat has been almost as silent as the Z in his name.

In 1967, Boston's slugging outfielder captured all three major batting titles in the American League with a .326 average, 44 homers and 121 runs batted in. His performance this year can be singled out as disappointing because, through Sunday's game, his average was .271 with only 14 home runs and 50 RBI.

It is not surprising, though, considering what happened to some among the previous triple crown winners.

Frank Robinson of Baltimore took the AL crown in 1966 with .316, 49 homers and 122 RBI.

The following season, sidelined by an injury for almost four weeks, he dropped a season-ending figure of 30 homers, 94 RBI and a .311 batting mark.

Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees was the last previous triple crown winner, capturing it in 1956 after hitting 52 homers, driving in 130 runs and batting .353. Although his average moved up to .365 the following year, his homer and RBI totals dipped to 34 and 94, respectively.

Steelers Sideline QB Dick Shiner

LATROBE, Pa. (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers placed quarterback Dick Shiner on the injured reserve list Monday and released a rookie linebacker, Jerry Moore of Bethune Cookman.

Shiner suffered two cracked spinal bones in Pittsburgh's first National Football League exhibition Friday night and the Steelers said he'll be sidelined for four or five weeks.

troit Tigers to a 6-3 victory over the Cleveland Indians Monday night.

It was the fourth straight and ninth victory in the last 10 games for the American League-leading Tigers.

Pascual Blanks Twins

MINNEAPOLIS — ST. PAUL (AP) — Camilo Pascual checked his former Minnesota teammates on five hits Monday night, hurling the Washington Senators to a 2-0 victory that snapped the Twins' winning string at three games.

A bases-loaded sacrifice fly by pinch hitter Cap Peterson in the sixth inning broke up a scoreless duel between Pascual, 11-6, and Jim Kaat.

National League

Cubs Take Cards Again

CHICAGO (AP) — Billy Williams' two-run homer in the fifth inning helped Bill Hands to his 14th victory Monday as the surging Chicago Cubs knocked out the National League-leading St. Louis Cardinals for the sixth straight time 7-3.

The second-place Cubs, with a 28-10 record since July 6, now hold an 8-7 edge over the Cardinals for the season.

Williams' 20th home run and his fifth in the last five games was delivered off starter Larry Jaster, 8-8, scoring Glenn Beckert who had singled. It broke a 2-2 tie.

Felipe Alou Stars

CINCINNATI (AP) — Felipe Alou lashed two hits in a six-run first inning burst that sent the Atlanta Braves to a 9-2 romp over the Cincinnati Reds Monday night.

A two-base error by left fielder Alex Johnson and two passed balls by Johnny Bench helped the Braves kayo right-hander George Culver in the first. Four of the runs were unearned.

Alou opened with a double, took third on a sacrifice and beat the throw to the plate on Hank Aaron's grounder to deep short. Joe Torre walked and the runners moved up on a passed ball before Aaron scored when Johnson dropped Tito Francona's fly ball.

Rec Leaguers High Scorers

Gary Rain powered DeVore's Keystone past Sheffield Tavern last night in Rec League play 20-5. Rain not only picked up the win but also clubbed a homer and double. In the second game, Surf Club triumphed over Rex Chantrel 24-11.

Lee Goldthwaite suffered the loss in the Keystone-Tavern clash while Ralph Lee was tagged for the Rex defeat.

The winning pitchers in the Surf Club victory were Jim "Blue Moon" Dahler and Art "Cat Fish" Zerbe.

Barry Dietsch aided DeVore's with a triple while Pat Elack and Dave Werner batted a pair of doubles. Gene Smith also added a two bagger to the win.

Ken Goldthwaite, B. Johnson, J. McAluay and Mody McCauley snagged doubles for the Tavern loss.

Denny Valone, Jim Bancroft, Jeff Marti and Dahler smashed homers for Surf. Wallis gave Rex a round-tripper.

Doubles were popped for Surf by Marti, Bancroft, Zerbe, and Dahler. Ralph Lee smacked a pair of doubles for Rex and Dick Valring added one. Jeff Marti led the pack n hitting going three-for-four.

Warren Sports Boosters Get Encouraging Reports

The Board of Directors of the Warren Sports Boosters met Sunday evening and received encouraging reports on the first half of the annual solicitation drive for football program advertisers, sponsors and patrons.

The response of business advertisers has resulted in $1,600.00 of advertising space sold through a mail campaign started two weeks ago. With the goal of $3,200.00 in sight, it is hoped the balance will be reached during the next ten days.

A committee of Boosters is now conducting a personal follow-up of all previous advertisers in an effort to complete the project.

Those assisting in this drive are: John Smith, Dick Kerven, Ray Marti, Dave Berdine, Dr. Ray Lowe, Shurl Glass, Murray McComas, Jim Gibson and Howard O'Neil, Al Harold Tundell, Gail Nelson, Bob Koebley, Bill Mervine and Dave Grady.

A deadline of Tuesday, August 20 has been set for the return of all advertising contracts.

Another phase of the program project involves the support of individuals as sponsors and patrons. Booster President John Smith said letters would be sent the next few days to active members of the Boosters and parents of athletes who have not yet returned sponsor and patron forms. Smith noted that in 1967 more than 25 per cent of the program revenue came from this source.

Rec Basketballers Have All Star Game Tonight

For an enjoyable "summer evening" and some fine basketball, Beatty Field is the place for you tonight when the Summer Recreational Basketball League All Stars take on a group of collegians in a post season all star game. The tip off time is 7:30 p.m.

The collegians have been organized by former Dragon star of four years ago, Bob Arnold and will feature some of the outstanding players in the area in recent years. On the team will be Arnold's high school teammates Jim Johnson and Tom Smith, outstanding members of a team that lost only five ball games.

Chuck Sample, former Youngsville all-round athlete, and a fine performer at Lycoming College in recent years, Scott Hunter, the Dragons leading scorer two seasons ago.

Bert Bliss, just back from Vietnam and one of the top Dragon performers in the past decade, Tom Tourtellot and Pan Fanaritis, will meet the all-stars.

Paul Johnston, famed star at our own Warren Campus and Mike Hackett, a round-baller on the Dragon squad of 67-68, have also contracted to play.

The league all stars will be coached by Bob Koebley, who's team was the league champions and will consist of the following: Seniors — Randy Jones, Dan Krumm, Larry Spence, Rob Loranger, and Sam Wilson; Juniors — Eddie O'Neil, Craig Burns and Don Lyle; Sophomores — Rick Freeburg, Craig Young and Mark Krumm.

Game time again is 7:30 and basketball fans of all ages should enjoy this encounter. Officials for the game have also been named. Dan O'Neil and Dave Cobb, two top Dragon basketball stars, will officiate the battle.

Sons of Italy Top Nichols

Sons of Italy and Nichols collided in City League play last night with SOI coming out on top 15-2. Tom Kibbie powered the win as he allowed only five hits. Pete Molinaro was charged with the loss, his first loss in two years.

Jim Falvo smashed a grand slam homer for the win while Paul Johnston and Dan Suppa added roundtrippers. Jim Suppa, who has just returned from Vietnam, aided the win with a sparkling five-for-five evening including four doubles.

Tom LeTrent gave the Nichols' squad an extra-base hit as he cracked a triple.

Ike Junior Attends Camp

During the week of July 28, Gordon Swanson, a member of the Eisenhower High School Track and Field Team, attended the Sinnemahoning, Pa., Cross Country Training Camp.

During the week of his training Swanson took part in distance running, swimming, "Olympic Day", the marathon, field games and mountain hiking in the Allegheny Mountains of central Pennsylvania.

The total distance of running and hiking for the week was 120 miles. Swanson is a junior at Ike this fall.

Barners Win, 3-2

The Red Barn edged Gaugh's Drug Store, 3-2, in Bantam action last night in the first game of a best-of-three playoff between the east and west. Dudley Nollinger hurled the win while Billy Cummings suffered the loss. Nollinger went three-for-three for the Red Barn with a single, double and a homer. Randy Cook cracked a pair of doubles for the win and Ricky Staffer snagged one two-bagger.

J. Sabot gave the losers some action as he went three-for-three. The next game is scheduled for Wednesday night at Lacy.

GOLFING WITH Arnold Palmer

Golf's first Million Dollar P.G.A. Winner

FLEX KNEES FOR EXTRA DISTANCE

The next time you see a professional golf tournament, pay special attention to the players' lower body action. Watch how "lively" or active these golfers are in their legs. These golfers, especially the long hitters, are actually forcing power up from their legs, and this power eventually comes forth in additional clubhead speed and increased distance.

No golfer, however, can generate his lower body's potential power if his knees are not slightly flexed at the address position and throughout the swing.

When the knees are stiff (illustration #1), leg movement is stifled. The arms are forced to take over as a much less effective power source.

Keep your knees flexed slightly, as I am doing in illustration #2. You will experience a new feeling of rhythm and power in your swing.

LOW SCORES! HIGH POWER! Get plenty of golfing help in Arnold Palmer's booklet, "Tree Shots and Fairway Woods," written exclusively for readers of this column. A copy is yours for 20¢ and a stamped, self-addressed envelope sent to Arnold Palmer, c/o this newspaper.

Eriez Speedway Has 3 Winners

ERIE, Pa. — Fred Knapp, Lyle Brown and Bob Gilbert were the big winners Sunday night here at Eriez Speedway. Knapp, the winningest driver on the New Car circuit last year passed Sam LaMancuso with just two laps to go to win the 25-lap New Car feature.

Brown continued his winning ways in the Sportsman division by beating Ronnie Blackmer to the checkered flag for his fourth consecutive old car main event victory.

Skip Furlow was third behind Blackmer in one of the closest Sportsman finishes this season.

Girard's Rich Miller posted his best finish of the season in the Late Model class by capturing third in a year old Buick. Last week's winner, Jim Scott, was fourth.

Westfield's Bob Gilberts made it a clean sweep of the Hooglan class over the week-end as he recorded his second feature win in two nights. He also won Saturday's 20-lapper at Stataline. Mike Eckert and Skip Vincent trailed respectively.

A TRIBUTE TO KEN COREY

The late Ken Corey had a host of friends. In this column some of them express the loss they feel at the passing of a friend and fellow sportsman.

REV. JOHN T. CARTER, Pastor, St. Clara's Catholic Church, Clarendon—"Ken Corey was a good Christian, a man of integrity, loyalty and honor; always true to his family, work and friends. Personally, he was a close and beloved friend."

DON NEAL, Outdoor writer—"There are few men who can command my unqualified respect, Ken Corey was one man who did. His qualities and virtues were far too many to list."

RAY HARRIGER, proprietor, Clarendon Sports Center—"We will always remember Ken as a fine sportsman and true friend. He was dedicated to making this world a better place in which to live."

GLENN CONKLIN, a trap shooting pal—"Ken was an awful nice fellow. He was a great competitor on the occasions when I shot with him, and we shot together a lot. He always stopped in for a cup of coffee when he was up our way."

BOB HOLMES, president, Warren County Federation of Sportsman's Clubs—"Ken was a conscientious worker and possibly the best public relations man the Fish Commission ever had in Warren County. He's done a lot for the sportsmen, and we should appreciate this. The sportsmen of Warren County will always remember his dedicated attendance at club meetings and his close attention to our problems. No problem was too small to have his interest."

JACK SKINNER, president Warren Field and Stream Club—"Warren Field and Stream Club will sorely miss Ken Corey. He was a fair and just warden, and we all knew him to be a true sportsman."

WILLIAM TIMMINS, state trooper and close friend—"Ken was a fine enforcement officer. And, of course, he was a very fine person, all around sportsman and gentleman."

JIM LATIMER, service station operator at Tidoute, a fisherman's hangout—"I think the people of this community will mourn the loss of a real conservationist in the death of Ken Corey. He believed in teaching the youngsters, and as an officer he was among the best, believing that all fishermen needed more enlightenment than punishment."

LEONARD FALBRISKI, next door neighbor—"Ken Corey was a close and dear friend, and a good neighbor. He had a vast knowledge in many fields and I have often asked his advice on many matters. I especially admired the way he taught and supervised his children, especially in the fields of conservation and citizenship. His passing is a great loss to the community of Clarendon, his family, friends and neighbors."

JACK EWERS, manager Kinzua Dam—"The recent demise of Ken Corey left the people here at the Kinzua Dam, who had had the pleasure of working with him, with a real sense of loss. The intense interest exhibited by Ken in the development of boating and fishing in the reservoir indicated his devotion to his chosen career. The public has lost a civil servant they will long remember as Ken had the respect of all he came in contact with."

TOM FONT, president, Warren County Trap Shooting League—"Ken Corey was one of the founders of the Warren County Trap League in 1964. He attended all of the meetings and was one of the better shots in the area. He loved his guns and took great pride in them. He could always be counted on for assistance when needed, and had deep concern for all sportsman's activities."

GEORGE MEAD, secretary, Warren County Federation of Sportsman's Clubs—"Ken Corey was one of the finest men I ever met. In the years I have worked with him he was a jolly person who always had an interesting story to tell. His picture in the paper—with a great big smile—described him to a 'T'."

GIFF JONES, sporting goods store proprietor—"Ken Corey was one of the finest fish wardens I have ever known. Not only was he efficient in his duties, but he was a real sportsman and gentleman as well. As a sporting goods dealer and licensing agent, I especially appreciated the cooperation he so willingly gave at all times. The sportsmen of this area have lost a real friend."

DON PARR, game protector—"I considered Ken Corey to be a close friend. While working with him I found him to be a fair and efficient enforcement officer. Aside from our work, we had some darn good times trap shooting. Ken was a real good shot and a fine competitor."

BUD JONES, president, Kalbus Club—"Ken was an expert trap shot and was always willing to share his knowledge of the sport with others. Many sportsmen who are shooting good scores today owe much of their skill to the coaching they received from Ken. He was an appreciated member of the Kalbus Club."

DAVE TITUS, game protector—"The sportsmen of the county have lost a true ally in the death of Ken Corey. He was a good enforcement officer and in the course of our work we cooperated on many occasions. We had a lot of respect for each other. I will miss Ken, as many other persons will."

TOM DONNELLY, county commissioner—"I knew Ken for a period of eight or ten years. He was a fellow who impressed everyone very much. He was dedicated to his job and the interests of the sportsmen always came first with him. I never heard Ken say a harsh word about anybody."

Contacting all the persons who knew and respected Ken Corey was of course an impossibility. It can only be hoped that those who were not contacted will understand.

Satch is Back With Atlanta

ATLANTA (AP) — Pitcher Satchel Paige, whose age is listed in the Baseball Encyclopedia as 62, has been placed on the active roster by the Atlanta Braves.

"We hope we can use him as a pitcher," Braves President William C. Bartholomay said Monday. "But very frankly we want to make him eligible for a place in baseball's pension plan."

The Braves said Paige will remain on the active roster for the rest of this season and will be retained in some capacity through 1969, enabling him to qualify for baseball's pension plan.

Paige needs 158 days to qualify for the five-year pension, which pays $250 at the age of 65.

Paige is scheduled to make his first appearance with the Braves Aug. 23, when Atlanta honors the Braves' top slugger on "Hank Aaron Night."

Paige, who pitched for years for Negro teams before he broke into big league baseball with the Cleveland Indians in 1948, said he wasn't sure whether he was ready to pitch.

"I don't know if I can pitch now—I'll have to go out and try to unfold first," Paige said.

The fabled pitcher's last appearance in the big leagues was on Sept. 25, 1965 when he pitched three scoreless innings for Kansas City against Boston.

The Braves said they hope to utilize Paige as pitching instructor and a teacher of conditioning. Paige is widely known for one saying, "Never look back—something may be gaining on you."

Paige, wearing glasses, neatly dressed in a brown suit, would not give his age. "They've done a lot of research on that and asked me so much about it I've forgotten it myself," Paige said.

Wilt and Bill Meet Again

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain and Bill Russell will be matched against each other Tuesday night when stars of the National Basketball Association meet in the 10th annual Maurice Stokes benefit game.

Chamberlain, recently traded by Philadelphia to Los Angeles, will start at center for one team while Russell, player-coach of the Boston Celtics, will start for the other team.

Joining Chamberlain will be Len Wilkens, Bill Bridges and Zelmo Beaty, all of Atlanta, and Adrian Smith of Cincinnati. On Russell's side will be Willis Reed of New York, Dave DeBusschere of Detroit, Hal Greer of Philadelphia and Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson.

All proceeds from the game at Kutztown's Country Club will go to the Stokes Benefit Fund, which helps pay medical expenses for Stokes, who was struck down with sleeping sickness in 1958.

Weekend of Rowdiness Results In Arrest of 18 Motorcyclists

LUZERNE, Pa. (AP) — A weekend of rowdiness by a Binghamton, N.Y., based motorcycle gang has resulted in the arrest of 18 persons on charges of disorderly conduct, motor code violations and one of carrying a concealed weapon.

Police said alleged acts of terrorism by the Vulcans apparently stemmed from a club initiation carried out in a rented house in this Luzerne County town.

The alleged terrorism began about 11 p.m. Saturday, Luzerne Mayor Edward Kulka put police on emergency standby basis when a threat was made that 100 motorcyclist would "come in and really do the job."

An alleged threat to burn the town brought police down on the gang.

Charged with disorderly conduct were Joseph Holland, Wyoming; Martin Seitz, Luzerne; Anthony Skokauckas, Endicott, N.Y.; Gerald Brown, Johnson City, N.Y.; Joseph Cassin, Endicott, N.Y.; Salvatore Destefano, Endicott; William L. Stark, Old Forge; Edward Zigga, Dickinson City; Leona Nosek, Duryea; John Yurina, Johnson

City; Geraldine Hackling, Luzerne; George Denham, Binghamton; Monica Piatco, Endicott, and Edward Dzieslak, Scranton. Another man who refused to give his name was charged on a John Doe warrant.

Motor code violations were lodged against John Camp, Endicott; Arlene Mudry, Endicott; Timothy Maher, Endicott, was charged with concealing a deadly weapon.

McCarthy's Campaign To Cost $4 Million

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy's schedule maker estimated Monday the Minnesota senator will spend about $4 million in his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The prediction came from Norval Reece, former executive director of the Southeastern Pennsylvania Chapter of Americans for Democratic Action. Reece now handles McCarthy's scheduling and helps with his research and speech writing.

There were three great temples at Baalbeck, erected by Imperial Rome to dazzle people of the East with its might.

Extension of Legislative Recess Criticized

HARRISBURG (AP) — The two legislative Democratic leaders sharply scored Monday a Republican proposal to extend the current legislative recess beyond the Nov. 5 presidential election.

"If the Republican leaders hold our return until after the election it is because they are afraid of their poor legislative record," said Senate Minority Leader Ernest P. Kline, D-Berks.

Added House Minority Leader Herbert Fineman, D-Philadelphia: "They don't want the Democratic Party to have a forum between now and the election. The know we would have that forum if the legislative halls were operating."

When the General Assembly recessed in July for the two political conventions this month, it was generally understood the session would be resumed in mid-September.

However, at the Republican National Convention last week in Miami Beach, Senate Majority Leader Stanley G. Stroup, R-Bedford, and Majority Whip Albert R. Pechan, R-Armstrong, both talked of deferring the session until after the election.

Stroup reasoned that what ever had to be done could just as easily be done in the three weeks after the election as in September. As a practical matter, Stroup added, it would be difficult to keep members who are up for re-election in their seats.

Apparently, the plan has not been firmed up as yet between the House and Senate GOP leadership.

"Nobody has talked to me about it," said House Majority Leader Lee A. Donaldson, R-Allegheny. "I suppose we could enact the judicial implementing legislation of our constitution after the election."

"But it would be most difficult in a lame duck session to enact new programs of any major scope. I haven't had the opportunity to confer with anyone else on this so I really can't tell you anything definitive at this point."

House Speaker Kenneth B. Lee said the plan still was in the "talking stage," and commented:

"My personal position is that we'll come back when the judicial article is ready — September or November, it makes no difference. Until that's done, I see no reason to come back."

An aide to Gov. Shafer said the chief executive was not opposed to the proposal per se.

However, he added: "We're getting a reading now on what has to be done and it may be that we may not be able to wait until November. If we don't find anything, we're in agreement."

Both Kline and Fineman insisted, on the other hand, that there were a score of items that should be brought forward for the legislature's immediate consideration.

They both conceded in the strictest technical sense, the only necessary business concerned enactment of legislation inline with the new judicial article adopted by the voters last April.

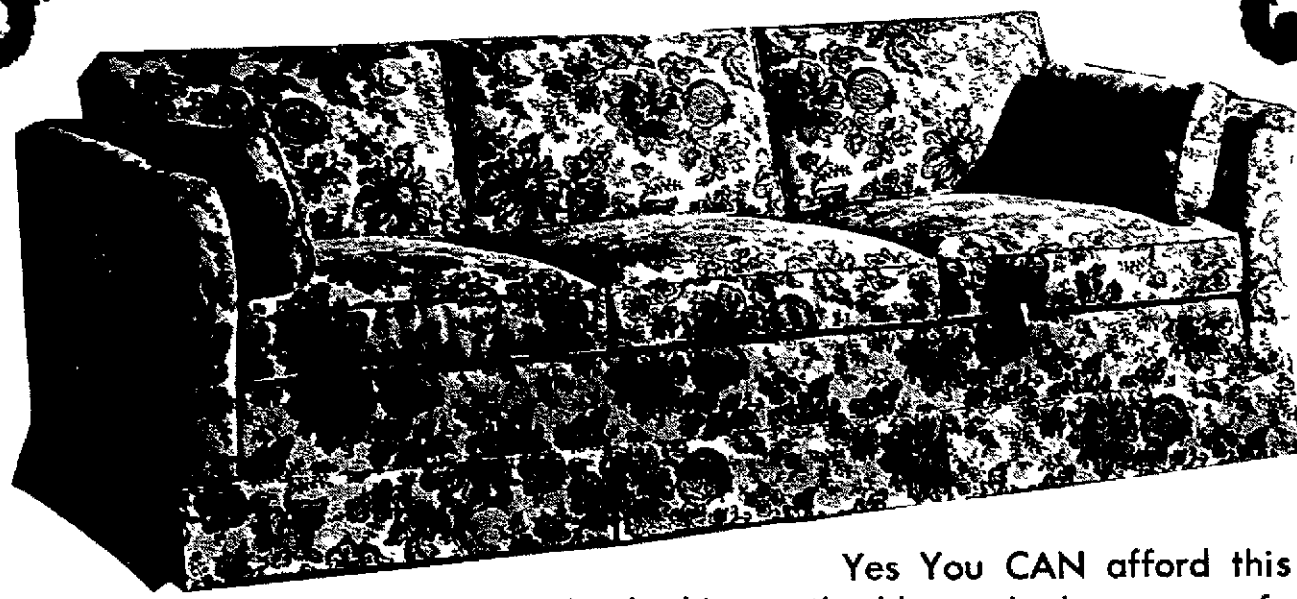

However, they cited as other priority legislation for the 1968 session:

— Implementation of the proposed Master Plan for Higher Education.

— Legislation waiving the penalties of the state's anti-public employees strike law as they pertain to Pittsburgh and Scranton school teachers.

— Amendments to the state's mine subsidence insurance law.

The Shafer aide said among the items being reviewed by the front office were a new public employees law; constitutional implementation; the phasing out of the Department of Internal Affairs and a $1.58 million appropriation for Hahnemann Medical College in Philadelphia.
